SENATOR WAGNER of New York, putting through the Senate a resolution ordering investigation of unemployment, makes this important statement:

"We may as well determine right here that we are going to wage relentless war until we abolish involuntary idleness as surely as we abolish involuntary servitude."

The State owes no man a living. But it does owe every man work if he is willing to work, and pay that will enable him to live decently.

Some Republicans, taking the unemployment of others calmly, say: "There is politics in Wagner's resolution." What of it? There was politics in the tariff that built our industries. There is politics in every public question. If Senator Wagner sticks to his fight and wins it, he will be remembered when many "Republican statesmen" are forgotten.

What is the finest epitaph you ever read? Which would you like to have and DESERVE?

The epitaph of the unknown French soldier under the Arc de Triomphe is the finest written recently. That of the great king of Persia beginning "I am Cyrus, O, man," is perhaps the most magnificent. That of Napoleon under the gilded dome of the Invalides telling how the great general wished his dust to rest "among the French people, that I have loved so much" and of whom he killed so many, is high sounding.

One that any man might envy is on the tomb of old Baron von Stein, whose family took from which he took his name. Part of it reads:

HEINRICH FRIEDRICH KARL, IMPERIAL BARON VON UND ZUM STEIN.

The last of his knightly race, which had ruled on the Lahn for seven hundred years;

Humble before God, high-hearted before men, an enemy of untruth and of injustice.

"I have a desire to depart and to be with Christ."

Happy the man who earns a noble epitaph as Von Stein earned his, freeing serfs, uniting Germany against Napoleon.

Pedro Reyes, Mexican bandit, supposed to have accumulated 100,000 pesos and killed many men, had his ideas about an epitaph. After a Mexican squad put him against a wall and shot him dead, there was found in his hand a piece of paper with this: "Here rests the bandit Pedro Reyes." That epitaph told all. Some epitaphs don't.

Jack Dempsey is through with fighting. His horse won the big race at Tijuana, two days ago. And Dempsey says "Tunney can keep that title as long as he wants it. I am not going to fight any more. For the first time in my life I feel free to do as I like, and go where I please. I have nothing to worry me."

Happy Mr. Dempsey. How few college professors, school teachers and clergymen are able to say "I have nothing to worry me."

Newspapers tell of a baby "dead 10 times." Ten times in its short five weeks of life the baby's heart stopped beating in a struggle against pleuro-pneumonia. Ten times it was revived and it probably will live. The doctors did wonders.

There is just a line about the mother. Still weak, following the baby's birth, she gave her

A&P STORE HELD UP

With guns drawn, two men entered the A. & P. store at 446 Charles st., Malden, today, ordered the manager into a back room and escaped with $41.25.

The manager, John J. Early of 11 Harvard st., Charlestown, told police the men took $10 from him and got the rest from the till, then ordered him to stay under cover for half an hour.

Ignoring he order, he saw the men leap into an auto and swing to the Fellsway in the direction of Boston. He furnished a description of the men that tallies in many respects with those of men in other recent chain store holdups.

HUB SYNDICATE BUYS $13,000,000 PLANTS

Los Angeles, March 7 (AP)—The Examiner says the Central Manufacturing District, Los Angeles industrial center, has been sold for more than $13,000,000 to an Eastern syndicate headed by Eugene V. R. Thayer, New York and Boston banker.

Stock of the Los Angeles corporation, a holding company, was purchased at a price in excess of $300 a share, The Examiner says all of the 43,000 shares outstanding were purchased.

Development of the district, embracing some 300 acres in the southeastern part of the city, was started by a group of Los Angeles business men six years ago. A model stockyards, a produce terminal and a junction railway are included in the district.

E. V. R. Thayer was born in Boston and is a graduate of Harvard, of the class of '04. For the eight years immediately following his graduation he was engaged in the brokerage business in Boston. Later he became president of the Chase National Bank, New York. He is a

N. E. 'WIFE' IS FLEEING WITH TOT

New York, March 7—The baby supposed to be the son and heir of Charles Edward Thompson, millionaire steel magnate, was disclosed today to be a child secretly "adopted" by his wife, Gloria Hopkins, former motion picture actress, during her husband's absence abroad.

The case in many respects parallels that of the Boyer baby "palmed off" by Mrs. Myron Boyer of Detroit on her husband, son of the wealthy head of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co.

The Thompson baby is, however, involved in a more tangled skein of circumstances, including two Mrs. Thompsons, a divorce that wasn't a divorce, a second marriage that is alleged to be illegal and an ar-

DEPOSITORS, IN TEARS, STORM DI PIETRO BANK, CLOSED BY THE STATE

The private bank of A. Di Pietro & Co., at 765 Hanover st., for 25 years the custodian of poor men's savings, was closed today by order of Bank Commissioner Roy A. Hovey.

In a statement he issued a short time later the commissioner said an examination has revealed certain irregularities and a shortage in assets caused in part by the misappropriation of funds.

The closing was preceded by an incipient run, and was followed by a gathering of excited depositors, may of them laborers, some in tears, and all with bank books in their hands.

According to the bank commissioner, the bank, which has no connection with any other, has at present about $150,000 in safe-keeping deposits and between 500 and 600 depositors.

It was learned that the bulk of the deposits were small, some being less than $50, while numerous depositors, who had placed the utmost faith in genial Andre di Pietro, the proprietor, were out of work.

As the news spread on the wings of the wind, a constantly increasing

Washington, March 7 (INS)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's plans was still in its hangar at Bolling Field today, and Col. Lindbergh himself was secluded in the Racquet Club, neither confirming nor denying reports from Baltimore that he is planning to enter Johns Hopkins Hospital for a rest.

The capitol has seen nothing of the transatlantic flier since he swooped out of the misty dawn yesterday morning, completing the fastest aerial round-trip to and from Scott Field, near St. Louis, on record.

WM. H. CRANE, ACTOR, IS DEAD IN HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, Calif., March 7 (AP)—William H. Crane, veteran actor of the stage, died here today.

Crane's First Hit Cost Him His Job in Boston

Impromptu song and dance acts in the back room of a Boston music store led indirectly to William H. Crane's stage career which closed only after he had amassed one of the largest fortunes ever made by an actor.

He was working in the music store at the age of 14 when he lost his job because fellow employes were found to be idling away their time watching him perform. He turned his thoughts to the stage, and after many vicissitudes won a part.

Born in Leicester, April 3, 1845, he received most of his schooling in Boston, and while a schoolboy won recognition as an impersonator. His ability in this line is said to have

PARKER IS CONFIRMED FOR AUTO REGISTRAR

Capt. George A. Parker, prohibition administrator for New England, was today unanimously confirmed by the Governor's Council as registrar of motor vehicles to succeed Frank A. Goodwin, and immediately was sworn into office by Governor Fuller.

Parker was escorted into the council chamber by his new "boss," Commissioner of Public Works William F. Williams.

At the end of the ceremony Gov. Fuller said:

"We all wish you well, your nomination having been unanimously confirmed."

The new registrar was then introduced to each member of the council and posed for the photographers.

LEWIS BARES 'REIGN OF TERROR' IN COAL WAR

Washington, March 7 (AP)—Conspiracy among the railroads, misuse of the judicial function, and the exercise of the sovereign powers of the states by private police in the central bituminous coal field were charged today before a Senate committee by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Appearing as the first witness at the opening of the inquiry ordered by the Senate into conditions in the coal fields, Mr. Lewis declared that among the first companies to abrogate their wage agreements with the unionmineres were the Consolidation Coal Company, of which, he said, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., "is a controlling factor," and the Pittsburgh Coal Company, which is generally recognized in the financial world as a Mellon company.

Mr. Lewis said the Pittsburgh

MADE $8000 WITH "SAX"

COMPOSER FOR "YES YES SIAM"

Joseph Falk, Allston youth at Northeastern, who plays more than a score of musical instruments and has earned $8,000 on his way through college puffing a saxophone in jazz bands in eight countries, composed in one hour the scores of 17 songs for the Northeastern musical comedy, "Yes Yes Siam," to be presented the last two days of this month at the Fine Arts Theater. His ambition after he graduates in June is to write a symphony for a jazz orchestra. Falk began his professional music career at the age of ten.

while drunk and had no knowledge of the girl's whereabouts.

He has offered no good reason why he hired the mail box (in which later he was to receive a decoy package representing the $50,000 he demanded) three days before Miss Smith disappeared from her room in Dewey House dormitory.

Investigators said later they would visit the home of Buinickas' relatives in North Amherst. It is at South Amherst the Smith summer home is located and in that district the girl was a familiar figure long before she matriculated at the local college.

HELD IN $5000 BAIL.

In the meantime, Buinickas was taken to Holyoke where, before U. S. Commissioner Fred P. Bennett, he pleaded guilty to a charge of using the mails to defraud and was held in $5000 for the Federal Grand Jury. He could not furnish bail and will be taken to jail tonight.

Postal inspectors and police questioned the Northampton mill worker for eight and one-half hours until 2 o'clock this morning, breaking down his alibi that another person had sent him to a mail box for the package that trapped him, and bringing out an admission that he had hired the box three days before the New York heiress dropped from sight.

Buinickas walked into the trap set for him by the postal authorities, a trap which has been baited for several days after St. John Smith reported the receipt of the ransom letter.

DECOY LETTER PLACED

Buinickas, according to the alleged confession, had written Smith under a false name, demanding that he send $50,000 in bills, unregistered and unlaundered to the postoffice box designated in Northampton.

A decoy letter, bearing a New York postmark, and attached to a string which sounded a buzzer in an inner office was placed in the box. The buzzer sounded and postal inspectors walked out to find Buinickas with the decoy letter in his hand.

He put up an alibi at first in which he claimed a young man whom he met in the Northampton Y. M. C. A. two weeks ago had given him the key and asked him to collect his mail for him and send it to an address in New Jersey which he would forward him later. The young man, he claimed, said he was expecting a package.

HIRED BOX JAN 10

But finally Buinickas broke under a grilling and admitted his story was false.

"I must have been drunk, however, when I did it," he is alleged to have told the inspectors. He said that he hired the box January 10.

The box was hired under a fictitious name of K. Krumley of 123 William st., Northampton. Although there is such an address, no one by that name is known there. There is an old barn, used by a junk dealer, located at that address.

He denied all knowledge of Frances St. John Smith, although he admitted that he had seen a girl's picture on a poster in the lobby of the postoffice in Northampton after he had hired the postoffice box.

He has lived in Northampton for 26 years and has a wife and three children. He is employed as a spinner in the Beldings Mills, Northampton.

For seven years he has had a regular box under his own name.

The two inspectors, Brezian and Cronin, are the pair who worked on the Salisbury train holdup last year.

played havoc with his record for deportment.'

Between the ages of 11 and 16 he lived in Harrison ave. and attended the Brimmer School in Common st. In his recently published Memoirs he tells of witnessing, more than 70 years ago, the start of the earliest Washington st. horse-car from the head of Boylston st., en route to Eliot sq., Roxbury.

Crane's first real stage part was in 1863 in "The Child of the Regiment." He shared honors with Lotta Crabtree in "Little Nell" in 1876. He produced many plays himself, but was probably best known for his comedy character roles in such successes as "David Harum," "The Senator," "The American Minister" and "Father and the Boys."

As long ago as 1875 he was making $50 a week in the off-season summertime, playing with Nat Goodwin in "Evangeline" at the Boston Museum.

After retiring he established himself in a cottage at Cohasset. Yachting was his favorite hobby. He later deserted Cohasset for Hollywood.

HUB BANK CLOSED BY STATE

crowd of gesturing men and women, few of whom spoke English, assembled outside the bank, demanding justice and gazing gloomily at the notice posted on the door.

This notice, signed by Bank Commissioner Hovey, read:

"Under authority vested in me by law I have taken possession of the property and business of A. Di Pietro & Company."

Reports were bandied from mouth to mouth, one which received particular credence being that Di Pietro had invested heavily in real estate and that some of his investments had turned out poorly.

Di Pietro could not be found, but shortly after the closing Bank Commissioner Hovey issued the following statement:

"Examination of the affairs of A. Di Pietro & Co., of 385 Hanover st., Boston, disclosed certain irregularities and showed a shortage of assets of the corporation, caused in part by a misappropriation of funds, which made it necessary for this department to take possession of its affairs.

"Andre Di Pietro, who is the proprietor of the company, has been in this business in the North End of Boston for upwards of a quarter of a century, doing a transmission and safe-keeping business, and at present has about $150,000 in safe-keeping deposits. There are between 500 and 600 depositors.

"The Di Pietro Company is not allied with any other bank or banker, and no apprehension should be felt by the depositors with other bankers in that district."

DEPOSITOR GOT $6000

The first inkling that the bank was in trouble came yesterday afternoon, when one of the largest depositors appeared at the office and attempted to draw out his funds, consisting of $6000. He was at first told that he could get only part of the money, but eventually succeeded in drawing it all in four installments before the day was out.

Apparently the word spread during the night, for at opening time this morning there were probably 50 depositors on hand, demanding their money.

Chairman Pasqualle Furri, a familiar figure in the North End, who was on duty, attempted to dissuade the depositors, but they insisted until, on the verge of hysteria, he telephoned Di Pietro at the latter's home in Roxbury.

While this was going on examiners from the bank commissioner's office were in conference in the directors' room in the bank, having arrived shortly after 9 o'clock.

The conference lasted 20 minutes, at the expiration of which time the notice that the bank had been taken over was posted and the police were requested to send officers to clear the premises.

Capt. McConnell of the Hanover st. station sent a detail, who ordered all but employes and officials out of the bank and kept the constantly growing crowd outside on the move.

DI PIETRO POPULAR.

Di Pietro has been extremely popular in the North End, and news that his bank had been closed came as a shock to the depositors. As soon as they learned what happened they appeared breathless at the bank, waving their bankbooks and excitedly demanding their money.

Whenever one of these depositors was approached by newspaper people a crowd immediately gathered. Its members hopefully holding up their bankbooks in the belief that something might be done for them.

One man who gave his name as Guiseppe Provanzano of 23 Charter st., and who was weeping, stated through an interpreter that his entire savings of $139 were in the bank. He said his family was in Italy and he was out of work.

Mrs. Joe Pistoni, a white-haired, elderly woman of 91½ Chelsea st., mourned the tying up of $600, her savings of 10 years. Mary DeMaro of 2 Ogden ct., who had a nest egg of $100 in the bank, attempted to comfort Provanzano and Mrs. Pistoni.

Di Pietro, who is the father-in-law of Renato Gardini, the wrestler, came to the North End 25 years ago and ran a saloon on Hanover st. near Charter st. Ten years later he opened the bank, which has become one of the best known institutions in the district.

He is said to have invested heavily in East Boston real estate, particularly in the Orient Heights section, where with others he acquired the old Maverick Hotel, which was rebuilt into a theater and dance hall.

The project it is said was not a success, and the venture resulted in a loss of money.

3 Coolidge Cabinet Men 'Bide Awee' for Mayor Walker

Washington, March 7 (AP)—Mayor Walker of New York kept three cabinet officials waiting half an hour today for a conference on his proposal to have the old federal building near City Hall, in Manhattan, torn down.

Secretary Mellon, Atty.-Gen. Sargent and Postmaster-Gen. New were waiting when Walker strolled in, accompanied by Paul Block, newspaper publisher, and Joseph Johnson, commissioner of public works for Manhattan Borough.

Just before he went into the conference Walker remarked as he looked around: "This looks like City Hall; nobody works."

Job Hunting Youth's Cash in Closed Bank

By FRANCES L. BAIRD

Guiseppe Provanzano might be cold, hungry and jobless, but nothing could dash his courage when he woke in his dingy lodging house room at 23 Charter st. this morning and glanced at his precious savings bankbook showing a balance of $130.

"That I must not touch." he reflected. "Surely today I will get work, and then I can add perhaps $1 more."

For eight months he denied himself every luxury to put every spare dollar he could into the bank run by Andre di Pietro.

"The bank has failed!"

Pro mcomewhere in the house the cry went up just as Guiseppe was leaving on his daily hunt for work.

It—simply—could not be true, his frightened heart told him. He hurried with other excited lodgers to the bank at the corner of Fleet and Hanover sts. The big doors through which he last went on March 5 to deposit $2, "to round out the $15," were closed, and a square of white paper announced that the bank commissioner had taken over the property.

Sympathetic neighbors, who also mourned for their savings, crowded around the weeping youth, patted his heaving shoulders, clasped his hand, looked away as he wiped his eyes again and again.

"He is such a good boy," an old man said. "He works steady when he has work. He saves every cent, for he is all alone in this big American. His parents are in Rome."

Guiseppe milled in and out of the crowd that blocked the street around the bank, the most abjectly, miserable person in the whole crowd. Every time a sympathetic word was spoken he wept afresh.

"But it took so long to save it," he said. "The bank is the best place to keep it—isn't that so? How could a bank fail? Is there no hope of getting anything?"

He broke from kindly hands and sought an alley, where he traced with trembling fingers each entry in the little black book.

was taken to the club, and there he has remained secluded in his room.

His associates are as uncommunicative as the colonel himself concerning future plans. Some of them said they had heard the reports from Baltimore that he was contemplating entering the hospital for a rest and medical examination and considered them "probably authentic." Others denied that the flying colonel had any such intentions.

Col. Lindbergh has secured the seclusion and quiet he wants on the occasion of this visit to Washington. He left instructions that his telephone was not to be rung and that no messages were to be delivered to him. Cabinet officers trying to get in touch with the young flier had no more success than newspaper reporters.

"Col. Lindbergh is not in to anyone," was the message given one cabinet officer trying to get in communication with him.

Among those who endeavored to see Lindbergh was J. B. Peat, said to be a business associate of Lester J. Hendershot, the Pittsburgh inventor, who is reputed to have evolved a new type of motor that requires no fuel.

COL. LINDBERGH ARRIVED IN NATION'S CAPITAL AND THEN PROMPTLY PROCEEDED TO FADE OUT OF SIGHT JUST AS THE CITIZENS WERE PLANNING TO SHOUT WELCOME

Wearied by universal admiration, tired out by fetes and public receptions of various sorts, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has fled the madding crowd and is now secluded in the Racquet Club, Washington, taking a well earned and much needed rest. A dispatch from Baltimore had it that the "Lone Eagle of the Skies" was about to enter the Johns Hopkins hospital in that city for treatment, but this was later denied by friends, who said there is nothing the matter with Lindy's physical well-being. The young man is just tired of being made a whole lot of and craves a few days to himself, these friends declared in explaining his retirement to the seclusion of the club.

WATCH COUNCIL FOR ACTION IN GLEASON CASE

The attention of State Prison officials was focused today on the State House where it was believed the meeting of the Governor's Council would indicate whether Governor Fuller has decided to interfere in the case of Herbert J. (Baby Face) Gleason, sentenced to die next week in the electric chair.

Gleason's plea for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment cannot be allowed by the Governor without the consent of the council and today's meeting of that group is the last scheduled to be held before the youthful Jamaica Plain slayer may legally be put to death.

If no recommendation for commutation is placed before the Council by the Governor today, prison officials will assume there will be no commutation and plans will be made for the execution after midnight Monday.

Gleason's plea for commutation has been before the Governor two days, and in his hands for several weeks have been the recommendation of Frank A. Brooks of the parole board. Few at the prison believe the Governor has not decided what course he will pursue.

LILY LANGTRY WILL DIVORCE NOBLEMAN

Monte Carlo, March 7—Sir Hugo De Bathe has become the most talked of person on the Riviera because of the unending sentimental incidents in which he is intimately involved.

After 28 years of married life with Lily Langtry, the famous "Jersey Lily," Sir Hugo, according to his friends, will soon be the defendant in perfunctory divorce proceedings.

Once the decree is granted, the doughty cavalier expects to marry a beautiful American girl some 40 years his junior. Lady De Bathe will begin her action shortly.

ADMIRED BY KING

Sir Hugo Gerald De Bathe by his marriage to one of the most celebrated women of her time long enjoyed great popularity in English and Continental sporting and social circles. In 1899, he married the lovely Emily Dhart Charlotte Langtry, whose sobriquet, "Jersey Lily," was given her because her father, the Very Rev. W. E. Lebreton, was dean of the Isle of Jersey in the English Channel.

At that time, the erstwhile famous actress was an attractive widow, her first husband, Edward Langtry, having been killed in a train wreck. Subsequently, Lady De Bathe became the brilliant leader of fashionable political life in London, counting amongst her friends and ad-

HER DAUGHTER MAY BE BRIDE

Mrs. Benjamin Guiness, formerly of Washington sq., but now one of Europe's most noted hostesses, may be the new mother-in-law of Sir Hugo De Bathe, who is to be divorced by Lily Langtry.

KING WAS AN ADMIRER OF NOTED ACTRESS

King Edward VII was one of Lily Langtry's admirers when the actress was a brilliant leader of fashionable political life in London. Reports from Monte Carlo say that Lily Langtry is soon to start suit. The identity of Sir Hugo's new love is not revealed but it is believed he will marry Meroud Guiness.

PLANS SUIT

Lily Langtry was an attractive widow when she became the bride of Sir Hugo de Bathe, her first husband having died in a train wreck.

ALSO ADMIRED HER

The former Premier Gladstone was a close friend of Lily Langtry. Only recently Lady De Bathe scored "malicious gossip" about their friendship.

THE WORLD ADORED HER ONCE

This photo of Lily Langtry was taken when her beauty was admired on both sides of the Atlantic. The sobriquet "Jersey Lily" was given her because her father was dean of the Isle of Jersey, in the English Channel.

U. S. ANTI-WAR PLAN FAVORED AT GENEVA

Geneva, March 7 (INS)—Diplomats attending the League of Nations council meeting, who have informally discussed America's proposals for a treaty outlawing war, have adopted a friendly tone toward the suggestions put out from Washington, it was learned this afternoon. But these discussions have been private and unofficial and none of the participants would make any formal statement.

Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, is expected to send his reply to Secretary of State Kellogg's latest treaty note some time next week. It is assumed that it will reflect the collective opinion of the chiefs of the British, Italian, German and Japanese delegations.

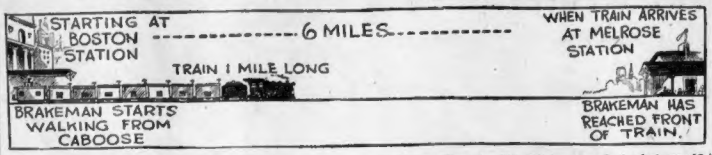
Get Your Wits Working on 'Brakeman Bill'; Here's Problem Worthy of Experts



STARTING AT BOSTON STATION
6 MILES
WHEN TRAIN ARRIVES AT MELROSE STATION
TRAIN 1 MILE LONG
BRAKEMAN STARTS WALKING FROM CABOOSE
BRAKEMAN HAS REACHED FRONT OF TRAIN.

Brakeman Bill started on a northbound freight from Boston to Melrose. The train was a mile long. He walked the whole length of the train, arriving at the front end just as it pulled into Melrose. The distance between the two cities is six miles, and the train was going 20 miles an hour. How far did Bill travel and at what speed? It is assumed that the caboose was at the zero mile when the train started and the engine at Melrose station, the six-mile mark, when the train stopped.

By THE BRAKEMAN PUZZLE EDITOR

Say, there's such a flood of answers comin' into this Brakeman Bill problem. I've had to get me a brand new assistant and a lot more floor space to park the letters.

Bill has sure stirred up the dopesters and the mathematicians and the fellows who pretend to understand the Einstein theory.

Now here's an answer the puzzle from a chap you'd naturally think would know at least a little about it. It comes from George Hannauer, Jr., son of the president of the Boston & Maine, the line Bill's freight runs over. Says George Jr.:

"The train traveled five miles at an average speed of 10 miles an hour. The brakeman traveled six miles his average traveling speed being 24 miles an hour."

George is a graduate of M. I. T. and a student at Harvard business school. Wouldn't you think he'd guess the right answer? BUT HAS HE?

He hasn't, according to Warren C. Miller of Quincy. Warren is positive that Brakeman Bill covered a total distance of six and three-quarters miles. "Any other answer which takes into consideration the earth's revolution is absurd," writes Miller.

But Warren, you forgot to give the rate of speed Bill traveled at, and that's half the problem. And darned if I'm going to do that for you!

"The train went six miles at 20 miles an hour and as Bill was on the train he also went six miles at 20 miles an hour," writes Evelyn Stanwood of Milton.

Glad to hear from the girls, Evelyn. Brakeman Bill isn't married, and it's leap year.

But getting back to the answer, isn't there just one little thing you overlooked in the puzzle? Walk back over that line of cars and start all over towards Melrose again.

Here's J. A. Holbrook of Newtonset, who has arrived at the same conclusion sent in by George Hannauer, Jr. The only way we can see that both reached the same answer was through working it out together. Why don't you and George get together again and prove that answer, Mr. Holbrook.

"Bill traveled seven miles during that jaunt to Melrose," writes Charlie Merry of Dorchester. "The train carried him six miles and he walked one, which makes a total of seven when I went to school."

Your addition is perfect, Charlie, and glad to see you haven't forgotten schooldays. But it happens that there is a little more to Brakeman Bill's problem than addition, merely.

According to latest reports, Brakeman Bill is sitting on a truck out in the baggage room of the Melrose station working out the correct answer. He's in back with the solution anytime. Why not see if you can beat him to it?

MAN HIT, POLE SNAPPED, BY WILD TRUCK

With nobody aboard a big three-ton baker's truck coasted wildly down Brooks st. hill, East Boston, today for a distance of more than 100 yards, injuring one pedestrian, snapping off a 45-foot telephone pole and ending its dash by crashing into the front of a building on Condor st.

The injured man is Francis Ormand, 49 Central sq., East Boston. He was knocked down, but not seriously hurt.

Telephone wires and electric light cables were dragged down when the tall pole was snapped off at its base and telephone service was disrupted.

The vehicle is owned by the White Rose Bread Co. and was in charge of Alton Howell of West Cottage st., Roxbury, according to police. Howell was making store deliveries and left the truck parked at Brooks and Eagle sts. It is believed that the parking brake slipped.

FERRIS WON'T RUN AGAIN; COMES OUT FOR WALSH

Detroit, Mich., March 7 (AP)—In a letter to William A. Comstock, Democratic National Committeeman received today, United States Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, declared that he would not be a candidate for re-election to the office this fall. In the same letter Senator Ferris said he would not support Governor Alfred E. Smith for the Democratic presidential nomination, but he will support Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

BOY, 5, INHERITS COWARD SHOE MILLIONS

New York, March 7 (AP)—A five-year-old boy today had joined the ranks of America's millionaires as John Mortimer Coward, 3d, of Glen Ridge, N. J., is to receive at least two-thirds of the more than $4,000,000 estate of his father, J. Mortimer Coward, late head of the Coward Shoe Stores, who died in Havana last Saturday.

His father's will bequeathing his two-thirds of the estate after a bequest of $100,000 is made to his mother, was filed in Probate Court. Mrs. Coward is to receive the income from the one-third residue for life, if she remains unmarried. If she marries the trust fund created for her is to be decreased to $500,000 and the residue paid to her son.

Part of the fortune which the five-year-old boy inherits is $1,000,000 from an insurance policy his father took out last July, probably the largest policy on record to become payable less than a year after it was taken out.

N. Y. CAR STRIKE VOTE IS OFF TILL SATURDAY

New York, March 7 (AP)—The cloud that has been hovering over New York City's riding millions for several days was temporarily lifted today with a postponement until Saturday of a vote by the union on the question of a strike.

LASALLE or CADILLAC during LaSalle Anniversary Week and Cadillac Spring Showing

LaSalle Anniversary Week and Cadillac Spring Showing, closing March 10th, afford you an excellent opportunity to become better acquainted with these finest of fine cars.

Motor-car owners—everywhere—are taking advantage of this week to experience for themselves the satisfied thoughts which a Cadillac-built car engenders.

With the result that they are awakening to the realization that nothing can take the place of the zestful, restful miles and the easeful hours, days, weeks and months of LaSalle and Cadillac—for the only worth-while things in motoring and the things which alone spell value.

In this Spring Showing of LaSalle and Cadillac cars you will find the most attractive, most extensive and most complete line of fine cars ever shown by any manufacturer. It includes a wide variety of custom-built bodies by Fisher and Fisher-Fleetwood representing the most beautiful examples of the body builders' art.

And these LaSalles and Cadillacs reveal not alone the vogue of today in motor car design, apparel and performance but of a tomorrow so far in advance of current practice that they will be the symbol of good taste in motoring for years to come.

Today's overwhelming preference for LaSalle and Cadillac has its beginning in the Cadillac Motor Car Company's policy of anticipating and gratifying the motoring public's aspirations. Its conclusion lies in the universal conviction that there is no substitute for the priceless possession and prestige of a Cadillac-built car.

SIX HUB BREAKS ON HEELS OF CRIME EDICT

Following closely Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley's arraignment of his men for failing to apprehend criminals, reports of a number of breaks and robberies were made to the police today.

Amy Pleadwell, an artist, reported that her studio at 9 Chestnut st. had been entered during her absence from home, and two antique Elmese rugs, valued at $225, had been stolen.

The New England Hospital, Dimock st., Roxbury, reported that false key workers had obtained $35, the property of Margaret Stewart, and a government check for $20.

Blair's Market, 2214-2216 Washington st., was entered by means of a door from the roof, and three handles on the office safe were knocked off, but apparently the robbers were frightened away without obtaining any loot.

Thieves broke into the Francis Parkman School, Patten st., West Roxbury, and in the master's office obtained from $15 to $20 in money.

A light brown overcoat, valued at $75, and the operator's license of Edward W. Center of 306 Bay State rd., were taken from the Boston University building, 525 Boylston st.

Thomas Walsh, proprietor of a poolroom at 451A Stuart st., reported that entrance was gained to his place through an unfastened window, and cigarettes, cigars and cash were taken.

DIAZ PREDICTS SUPERVISION

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR.

Managua, Nicaragua, March 7—President Diaz after an all day conference with leders of both Houses of Congress, renewed his confident predictions that the Tipatapa arrangements for American supervision of the next election and the training of the Guardia Nacionale would soon become a law in Nicaragua.

The most important meeting of the day was between President Diaz and his minister of foreign affairs, Dr. Carlos Cuadra Pasos, who returned from the Havana conference, and Gen. Emiliano Chamorro, archenemy of the Tipatapa arrangements.

Members of the House who saw Gen. Chamorro during the day, report him in a bitter frame of mind and holding out against Diaz and other leaders of the Conservative party. How far he is playing a political game and how far he means to make trouble only time will tell.

Apparently he will never forgive the Washington Government for its refusal to recognize him as president when he seized the presidency several years ago.

A further grievance against Washington is based on the refusal to wink at any violation of the Nicaraguan constitution which, in its present form, disqualifies Chamorro as a candidate at the next election.

If Nicaraguans knew just what President Coolidge said to Dr. Zepeda in New York and an ardent Chamorrista, and Dr. Cesar, the Minister to Washington, another supporter of Chamorro, it is thought likely they would understand the latter's latest cause for indignation at Washington's refusal to offer him terms of compromise

SMITH COLLEGE "PEEPER" FINED $50; PLEADS GUILTY

Northampton, March 7 (AP)—Louis Simon of Westfield, arrested on Smith College campus the evening of March 1, on complaint of students that he had accosted and annoyed them, retracted an earlier plea in court today and on a plea of guilty was fined $25. He was fined a similar sum for assault on George Geis, night watchman, who arrested him.

56 VAGRANTS JAILED IN DENVER BLOWUP PLOT

Denver, March 7 (AP)—Fifty-six alleged vagrants were jailed today after Mayor Ben Stapleton received a letter signed "Nitro" which carried a threat to "blow the highest building in Denver off its foundation" if unemployed men in Denver are not put to work. All the men were held on the open charge of "investigation" which denied them the privilege of bail.

ANTI-SALOON FOLK WANT CASH FOR "DRY SPIES"

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 7 (AP)—The Southeastern states prohibition convention of the Anti-Saloon League went on record here today in favor of a congressinal appropriation to obtain evidence in prohibition law violations by under-cover agents.

TENNESSEE W. C. T. U. DEMANDS DRY PLANKS

Nashville, Tenn., March 7 (AP)—Women representing the Tennessee W. C. T. U. organizations demanded at a session of their annual convention here that the nominating committees of the Republican and Democratic parties place rigid planks of prohibition enforcement of the law in the hands of officials avowedly friendly to "bone dry" interests.

HEARST GOLD STAR MOTHER PLAN PRAISED

Gold Star Mothers and widows praised today the plan of the Boston Evening American and associated Hearst newspapers throughout the country to establish information and aid bureaus in connection with the proposed Government-financed pilgrimage of the mothers and widows to the graves of their soldier sons and husbands overseas.

The Butler bill providing for the pilgrimage has been adopted by the House of Representatives and awaits now only endorsement by the Senate and signing by the President.

At the information-and-aid bureaus planned, Gold Star Mothers and widows will be enabled to receive information as to requirements for the trip and aid in making out the necessary forms and affidavits.

The service will be free of charge in recognition of the sacrifices made by the women for their country.

Northampton Gas Rate Cut

Northampton, March 7 (AP)—Price of gas in this city, effective with bills of May 1, will be cut ten cents a thousand cubic feet, the Northampton Gas Light Company announced today. The minimum price will be $1.30 net after the first thousand feet.

PALM BEACH IS PLACE TO STUDY FASHIONS, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

By Day or Night Wearers of Latest Styles Pass in Parade

PALM BEACH, FLA., MARCH 7—BENEATH a sun gorgeously brilliant and perfectly tempered by salty sea breezes or beneath a moon riding high in a tropical sky all star studded, the social and sartorial pageant that is the heart and soul of Palm Beach moves on its serene way. Whether it be golf on perfect links or tennis on hard, white courts, bathing in a limpid turquoise ocean or doing the frivolous round, Palm Beach habitues make of it all a scintillating progression from morn till far beyond dewy eve.

TO THE FEMININE READER THE MERE mention of Palm Beach conjures up before the eye a wardrobe perfect in its every detail, the magic designation immediately flashes to the mind pictures of a wardrobe limitless in its variation of color and design. A modern counterpart of purple and fine linen of biblical days, that long ago when society with a capital S did not exist, when Palm Beach was a jungle, endless centuries before a Flagler waved a magic wand to the end that the world of fashion and wealth might have its perfect tropical playground.

LET US, THEN, CONSIDER THE GENTLER SEX togged out a la Palm Beach. To be seen, not to see, such is the slogan. First and foremost, old Sol's unfailing brightness brings out in countless numbers the large, floppy hat, that humbles the parasol for width and frames its wearer's face with charming effect before dipping gracefully to the very shoulders. Enormous rough straw hats, equally enormous leghorns. Hats that throw back to the sunlight a gleaming reflection from their own glazed surfaces. And of every shade and tint known to the ordained color scheme and some cunningly contrived by the hand of man for woman's enhancement.

BUT IS THE LARGE HAT SUPREME IN milady's favor? Yes, except when her taste runs to the small affair that snugly fits the head and sports a narrow, rippling brim. Then does the wise maid and wiser matron add for unstudied effect and sun effacement the gaily tinted parasol, usually of Far Eastern shape and coloring. As a costume accessory the parasol is high favorite. And as for colors, the range is marvelous and the patterning of them too amazingly intricate for mere verbal description.

AND NOW FOR THE FROCKS. THE DAYTIME FROCKS, smartly swagger in their absolutely straight line silhouette. Whether the one-piece or the blouse and pleated skirt mode, Paris apparently for Palm Beach has not rung in any startlingly different innovations. The frocks are still simple. If such perfect examples of the needlewoman's art may be designated by the word simple. Gossamer linens, every sort of knitted fabric, crepes tinted from the seashell and the sky, futuristic color combinations that rival the coat of fabled colors. And all delicately hand-drawn and fashioned. They take a note of dash from neckerchief scarf or swinging shoulder tie. Now and then from sash ends that flutter in the vagrant breeze.

WHEN THE SUN HAS GONE DOWN AND THE MOON COMES UP, then the feminine butterfly folds away her simple daytime things and flutters out radiantly. And gorgeous wraps, the highest expression of the furriers' art and fabulously priced come not amiss, even though Palm Beach boasts an evening atmosphere hardly less salubrious than her daytime perfection. One beautiful wrap was of ermine in its natural honey-colored state. The collar was deep taupe fox. Ermine, in all the snowy glory of unspotted white, is of course prime favorite, whether the entire wrap is of the priceless fur, or only the deep soft collar that frames the face so deliciously.

GOSSAMER CREPES BANDED AND COLLARED IN DELICATELY tinted fox, for evening wraps, the two combined in the cavalier mode of swinging shoulder cape, is a costume note favorite here. One very smart young matron's simple crepe frock for dinner took a dash of the bizarre from an unusual jacket-like wrap of two distinct sorts of metal cloth. The coat itself was metal tissue shot through with every rainbow color. The flat collar and cuffs and straight folds from chin to knee were of silver tissue. The effect was radiantly metallic as fashion insists and immensely becoming to the wearer.

THE YOUNG GIRL, FOLLOWING the frivolous round of after-dinner gaiety, is very often in the picture mode. One pretty, blue-eyed, golden-locked creature wore a bouffant taffeta, dull black combined with bright turquoise blue. A petticoat, uneven at the hem, matched its turquoise tints to turquoise slippers, and a shoulder bow of turquoise was no uncertain note of the ensemble. For glint and glitter this young girl carried a gem-studded purse, and wore single strand diamond bracelets.

IT IS THE DIGNIFIED DOWAGER, however, who comes out of evenings literally decked with precious stones. For her the several bracelets of diamonds and rubies, diamonds and emeralds, diamonds and sapphires, worn as it were en masse. When a Stotesbury, a Baker, a Quentin Jones, a Hutton, a Brown or other representative of vast wealth and enormous possessions essays the evening Palm Beach frivolous path, then indeed is the jewel display like unto the cave of an Aladdin, or the treasure trove of a Captain Kidd or a Harry Morgan. But a Kidd or a Morgan who had looted the show windows of a Cartier for the most up-to-date examples of the jewelers' art.

GEN. GRANT'S CHURCH IS DESTROYED BY FLAMES

New York, March 7 (AP)—President U. S. Grant's old church in Greenwich Village, the Methodist Episcopal edifice known as the Metropolitan Temple, was destroyed by fire today. Three stained glass windows, dedicated to Presidents Lincoln, Grant and Roosevelt and a pipe organ which was a memorial to President McKinley, were among the treasures destroyed.

Skinny Women Don't Stand a Chance!

Gain pounds of weight with New YEAST and IRON

Pleasant to take—Quick results—or pay nothing

You don't want to be underweight, nervous and always tired—an object of pity to your friends. Start IRONIZED YEAST now and add pounds of good flesh on those bony arms, hollow cheeks and scrawny limbs. See ugly lines give way to graceful curves. Feel a new vitality and healthy strength you haven't known for years.

How Yeast Builds Weight

IRONIZED YEAST is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial.

The yeast is treated with iron taken from fresh vegetables—spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it most effective—for iron is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this formula IRONIZED YEAST gives you results in half the time required by yeast and iron taken separately.

IRONIZED YEAST brings pounds of weight in astonishingly quick time. Letters say: "10 pounds gained in 3 weeks," "one full treatment added 7 pounds," "14 pounds and better health." The blood is toned up, too, because the iron adds strength and richness to the blood, clearing up the complexion and increasing your vitality. IRONIZED YEAST comes only in pleasant-tasting tablets in a handy bottle. Safe for everybody. Does not upset the stomach nor cause gas or bloating.

First treatment gives results—or no money

Ask the druggist now for a full course treatment. If he will prove that you can gain many pounds, or your money will be refunded. If inconvenient to buy at the drug store, send $5.00 to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 217W.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

SOME OF OUR OWN CARS HAVE RUN FROM 90 TO 100 THOUSAND MILES

THE Standard Oil Company of New York owns and operates 4,000 cars. They are of many makes. They see hard service. Some of them have run from 90,000 to 100,000 miles with only minor repairs.

Why is our automobile expense so much less proportionately than that of the average motorist? Principally because we use one gasoline—Socony—and one motor oil—Socony—and change the oil in every car every 500 miles.

Oil is only 2% of the cost of running a car. Using oil of inferior quality is the quickest way to ruin an engine. Standardize on Socony. Change it regularly and keep your car longer and pay less for repairs.

Do you know the Socony Touring Service? When you are going somewhere, there is always the question of which road to take. That is exactly what the Socony Touring Service can tell you. They know road conditions and detours. And they know the best roads. Write to them at 26 Broadway, New York City. Their services are at your disposal.

Socony Gasoline and Motor Oil must pass 18 tests.

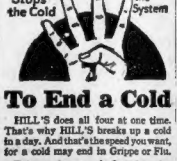
WHY YOUR STOMACH GRUMBLES

Your stomach "grumbles" because it tries to tell you it is out of order. Heed its warning, for although the trouble may not yet be serious, it is often the forerunner of severe gastritis and stomach ulcers.

Nine times out of ten indigestion and allied stomach disorders are due to excess stomach acid, which impedes normal digestion and forms sour gases that cause intense pain. To restore good digestion you must eliminate this cause. A tablet of "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt will instantly neutralize the acidity and furnish all digestive trouble and pain.

Get a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" today, for it not only brings instant relief, but by soothing, healing and strengthening your weak and disordered stomach "Pape's Diapepsin" keeps your digestive system healthy and helps to prevent further disorders.

Do 4 Things



To End a Cold

HILL'S does all four at one time. That's why HILL'S breaks up a cold in a day. And that's the speed you want, for a cold may end in Grippe or Flu.

Take no chances. At first sign of a cold take HILL'S Cascara-Bromide-Quinine tablets. That means safety, as millions know.

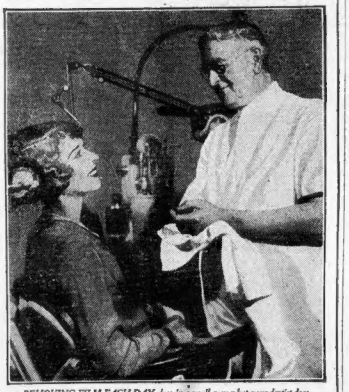
Be sure you get HILL'S, in the red box with portrait. As effective—as safe.



REMOVING FILM EACH DAY does in a small way what your dentist does by cleaning teeth. Thus Anne Pomeroy is urged by her doctor to use Pepsodent.

Film-Free Teeth are white and sparkling

FILM on teeth makes lovely teeth look dull, "off color." It causes many serious tooth and gum disorders, as science knows. You must remove it. Dentists urge new way.

THIS offers you a simple scientific test—one judged a most remarkable denial test. It will produce a brilliance and whiteness in teeth you do not realize they have. It will improve your gums.

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film . . . a viscous coat that covers them. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that cloudy, "off-color" look. Germs by the millions breed in it, and they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Tooth troubles and gum troubles now are largely traced to that film. Old-time methods fail in successfully combating it. That's why your teeth remain dull and unattractive.

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, dental science has provided effective combatants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it in gentle safety to enamel.

The teeth you see when that film is removed will amaze you. Ordinary methods disappoint.

Get Pepsodent at your druggist's. Or mail the coupon. A 10-day tube will be sent free.

PRINCE OF WALES HANGS TO HORSE AFTER STUMBLE

London, March 7 (INS)—The Prince of Wales narrowly escaped a serious fall today while riding in a point-to-point race at Bicester when his horse, Lady Doone, stumbled and the prince lost his stirrups. The prince was thrown heavily across the horse's neck, but clung tenaciously to the animal's mane and to the saddle. The prince righted himself as his mount regained its stride and finished only three yards behind the winner despite the accident.

RADIO NEWS

RADIO PROTEST TO BE HEEDED

Washington, March 7—Harkening protests from New England against the proposed compulsory revision of the radio broadcasting structure, members of Congress are confident that they will succeed in eliminating the "equalization provision" when the measure comes to a vote tomorrow.

Some new and interesting tables, prepared by Commr. Caldwell of the radio commission and submitted by him under date of March 2, to Judge Sykes, acting chairman of the commission, designed to show the full extent of the "disruption" of the present radio set up, which the equal allocation provision would entail, were circulated among the members of the House and are counted on to muster sufficient votes to defeat it.

The latest Caldwell statement specifically answers the contention of the supporters of the equal-allocation scheme, that it would not be necessary to revise downward the station power or station number of the maximum zones—New England and New York and the Middle West—that equalization could be accomplished by increasing the deficient zones up to the level of the maximum.

Radio Dialog

THE Little Church Around the Corner, down in the Twenties off Fifth ave., has been the scene of many a romance brought to its denouement. Last night, Craig Campbell, popular tenor, and a former soloist at the little Actor's Church, sang love songs through WEAF-WEEI. He also did a Scotch song, and that one song was worth the evening's whole radio rummage party.

The Ipana Troubadours will relate nine dreams tonight in the half-hour from 9 to 9:30, starting with "A Little Log Cabin of Dreams," and ending with "I'll See You in My Dreams." It's to be hoped that nine songs of dreaming will not put the audience to sleep. It would be a pity to miss "Will You Remember" from "Maytime," to be sung by the soprano and quartet in the Silvertown broadcast immediately following on WEEI.

THE Goodrich Hour tonight will be divided into two groups. The first half will be made up of miscellaneous numbers by the orchestra, quartet and tenor. The second half is a mosaic of musical comedy selections popular 10 years ago.

WBET will broadcast the South Boston Evacuation Day historical exercises to be held next Sunday evening at the Broadway theatre. The program will include an invocation by Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., vice-president of Georgetown University; a talk by Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols, and musical selections by the Meistersingers and an orchestra.

RIGHT in the shadow of Symphony Hall, a Boston station announced informed the listening world that the next number to be played on the phonograph would be "Tryan and Eyesoddy" by Lindberg. Poor Richard Wagner must have squirmed in his grave at the announcement and during the ensuing scratching rendition of his immortal "Love Death."

Why do not announcers take the trouble to consult some of the many musicians who are available, and who would be glad to set them right on matters of pronunciation, identity of composers and selections to be played?

LUCIEN SCHMIT, 'cellist, was featured on last night's Stromberg-Carlson Hour. His solo was the dainty "Musette" of Offenbach. The Quintet sang "I'll Think of You" and "The Hours I Spent With You." The orchestra's most stirring number was the "Dance of the Blue Danube."

Sophie Braslau, contralto, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will sing "Hill, o' Dreams," "The Eri King," and the Brindisi from Donizetti's "Lucretia Borgia" on tonight's Columbia Photograph Hour through WNAC. It will be the lady herself, not a record.

THE spirit of aboriginal America —the plaintive love call of the North American Indian, the soft gliding of canoes in the moonlight, his cries of defiance to his enemies, and the frenzied war dance of the tribe—were reflected in last night's program of the Seiberling Singers.

Hell's advocate will be given a hearing in an unusual broadcast to be sent out from WBBR next Sunday morning, of all times. For the benefit of those blase listeners who are getting indigestion chewing their nails while their sets remain silent at church time, the Staten Island station has evolved a startling substitute program for the usual Sunday morning church period.

"FRANK" and "Ernest" are two well-meaning individuals having conversations, in most well meaning people so annoyingly have. Frank believes in a Biblical Hell with a capital hatch. Ernest thinks the world is going to everlasting pot if people persist in believing in such rubbish as fire and brimstone. The two will fight it out in front of the microphone, and the best breath wins.

ARMY FLIERS WILL BRING NEW PLANES TO BOSTON

Capt. Christopher W. Ford, acting chief of the Army Corps in New England, left for Wright Field, Fairfield, O., today to pilot back to Boston one of the latest type PT-1 planes assigned to the Boston Airport. Lieut. Donald G. Duke, new commander of the airport, left at the same time for the Ohio Air Corps supply depot and will pilot an A-3 plane to Boston. Lieut. Richard E. Cobb will fly to this city from Bolling Field, Washington, today, carrying as passenger Major Ira Longanecker, formerly head of the Army Air Corps in New England.

SHOT FOUND IN SKELETON AT BROCKTON

Brockton, March 7—A new angle on the mysterious death of a man believed to have been Charles Dorgan of this city, whose two-year-old skeleton was found in the woods off Hanley st., was revealed today when Medical Examiner W. W. Fullerton announced that 16 birdshot were embedded in the bones.

The medical examiner said that by means of an X-ray he had discovered nine shot in two ribs and one in the spine, which he believes to have been part of a full charge received by the victim in the pit of the stomach, at fairly close range.

The medical examiner refused to express any opinion as to whether the man was the victim of murder or accidental shooting, but pending the holding of an inquest the date of which is to be set later the police are proceeding on the theory of a slaying.

The slayer, the police alleged, hid the body in the underbrush where it remained until found by

Brenton Griffin, a 14-year-old Bridgewater boy.

The skeleton has been virtually proven to be that of Charles Dorgan, 65, formerly of West Bridgewater and later of the Hotel Norris, this city. A truss found on the victim was today identified by Silvanore Bruno of Brockton as one he repaired for Dorgan shortly before he disappeared from his home.

A double-barrelled shotgun, open at the breech, was found several feet from the body but a search failed to disclose any shells.

The position of bullets in the bones of the victim indicated that they could not have been self-inflicted, according to the Brockton police.

The gun had been "broken" as though to insert more cartridges. The mystery was made more puzzling by the statement of Mrs. Lena Wade Whitman, a sister of Dorgan, who declared that a watch and belt found on the victim were not the property of her brother.

A previous identification of the skeleton as that of George H. Chamberlain, who disappeared from his East Bridgewater home in November, 1926, was discarded by police and a check-up on the movements of Dorgan previous to his disappearance was started.

Dr. Frank J. Dwyer, dentist friend of Dorgan, who identified the shotgun found near the skeleton as the property of John Fallon of West Bridgewater, will be questioned today in an attempt to obtain more light on the mystery.

Mrs. Fallon has already told the police she gave the gun to Dorgan in the spring of 1926, mistaking it as one Dorgan left at the Fallon home some months before. Mrs. Fallon later reported the error incident to Chief Laughton of the Bridgewater police.

Baby Is Unhurt in 210-Foot Fall Down Coal Mine Shaft

Picher, Okla., March 7 (AP)—Baby Lucile Thomas, 22 months old, was uninjured, except for bruises in a 210-foot fall to the bottom of a mine shaft. Miners found the infant sitting upright in a pool of mud, with all but her head submerged.

LEWIS SCORES MINE OWNERS

company "was able to inaugurate a non-union drive in a big way to demoralize its coal mines.

"Wholesale employment of coal and iron police, detectives and deputy sheriffs followed," he said.

"Former employes were evicted from their homes and a reign of terror and intimidation was inaugurated that has excelled for brutality and lawlessness any union-busting endeavor this nation has witnessed in recent years.

Lewis asserted the abrogation of the contract with the union miners by the Consolidated Coal Company, the largest producing company in the Fairmont, West Virginia, field, caused other operators in that region, as well as in the adjoining Morgantown field, to abrogate like contracts.

INDUSTRY DEMORALIZED.

"The bituminous coal industry today is in the worst demoralized state that it has ever known," he said.

"In Pennsylvania and Ohio, where wages have been reduced from 20 to 40 per cent, coal is being mined and marketed without profit to the operators, while the mining communities steadily are being ground down to pauperized levels."

A railroad drive to reduce coal prices was attributed to Mr. Lewis largely to W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad, but Lewis said it had been taken up by other roads, including the New York Central, the purpose being to get cheaper fuel for their own use and to reduce mine workers' wages.

"By 1925 this demand of the railroads for lower fuel costs had crystallized into a practical conspiracy to accomplish cheap coal," Lewis went on. "The evidence is at hand and the proof obtainable to substantiate the accusations.

"The competitive relationship of the coal industry, superimposed by the railroad conspiracy to depress mine wages and coal prices, reached such powerful proportions in 1927 that its influence dominated the coal operators of the central competitive field and caused them to refuse to renew their wage agreements with the United Mine Workers of America."

LEVINE AND MISS BOLL MAY HOP TO SO. AMERICA

New York, March 7 (AP)—Friend of Charles A. Levine today suggested that his New York to Havana flight was merely a "practice hop" to see how Miss Mabel Boll, his passenger, could endure long-distance flying.

If she proved to be a good air traveler, they said, Levine probably would take her on a really long-distance flight, probably to South America.

COOLIDGE IS SCORED IN OHIO CONVENTION

Des Moines, Iowa, March 7 (INS)—Charging President Coolidge with betrayal of the party pledges on which he was elected, uttering an emphatic warning of the overthrow of "unequal tariffs," and denouncing "a prosperity propaganda which insults the intelligence," M. J. Tobin, keynote speaker, opened the Iowa State Republican convention here today with a plea for support of Frank O. Lowden of Illinois for president.

PASTOR TO WED STUDENT AT SARGENT

A romance, which started three years ago at the Park Street Church, was brought to light today with the filing of marriage intentions by Albert M. Witwer, Jr., a young clergyman, and member of a well-known Pennsylvania family, and Miss Ruth Buchanan of West Roxbury, a senior at the Sargent school, Cambridge.

The couple met, according to Witwer, during devotional hour at the famous edifice on Brimstone Corner. Three years have slipped by since that day, and on June 21 the couple will be married, following Mr. Witwer's graduation from Boston University Theological school and Miss Buchanan from Sargent.

Witwer is the son of Rev. Albert M. Witwer, Sr., pastor of the Philadelphia Methodist Episcopal Church, Lancaster, Pa. He was a chaplain during the World War.

When he is graduated from Boston University he will accept a pulpit in Philadelphia. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, a member of many college clubs and won high honors as a sprinter while at school. He received his early education at the Lycee of Grenoble, France. He is 25.

Miss Buchanan is a graduate of the Jamaica Plain High School and lives with her parents at 18 Houston st., West Roxbury. She is twenty.

rangement for adoption even before the child was born.

Thompson married Gloria Hopkins on the day that his first wife's divorce was to have been granted. Something happened in court to cause a postponement, and there was a second Mrs. Thompson while Thompson was still undivorced from the first.

When this was learned by the steel magnate he left alone for Europe believing that Mrs. Thompson No. 2 was in delicate health and could not travel with him. In due time she showed a baby to her friends and now she is on her way overseas with the child, having successfully eluded investigators hired by Mrs. Thompson No. 1.

There are two birth records of this baby, investigators have learned. The true one shows the child to have been born January 17, 1928, to Mrs. Matilda Hynes of West New York, N. J. A false record in this city, signed by a doctor who now admits his wrongdoing, calls the child the son of Mrs. Gloria Thompson.

The false birth certificate gives the parents' address as 136 Hemingway st., Boston. On Hemenway st., 136 is a vacant lot.

Gloria Hopkins Thompson is a native of Manchester, N. H. She obtained a divorce in 1918 from Grosvenor Hopkins and was given custody of three children. In 1925 she sued Major Henry Sanford for $300,000 for breach of promise. Suit was settled out of court.

During her career in motion pictures she appeared in "Hearts and Dollars" and "The Pajama Girl," produced by the Sun Picture Corpn.

is a young man—he's married—he has children—he has a steady position—he is saving

He carries life insurance—he saves a stipulated amount of each week's salary—he may be buying his home on the co-operative plan—he lives a comfortable life within his means.

He knows that his clothes have a great deal to do with his success or failure—but like most of we humans he finds it difficult to accumulate the purchase price of the clothes he really needs, not because he can't afford them, but because there always seems to be some other need (maybe not as necessary) arising to take his money before he has the needed amount set aside.

If he had to keep his savings about the house for weeks before he could deposit them they, too, would be spent—it's natural.

This is the man for whom we have established the Weekly Payment Plan. This is the man who tells us week after week what a wonderful convenience this modern charge service of ours is.

TELEVISION LINKS LONDON TO SHIP AT SEA

'Hammer' Girl Puffs 'Fags' and Tells of Killing Husband

LONDON IS 'SEEN' ON LINER

Steamship Berengaria, March 7 (AP)—A ship at sea has been linked to shore for the first time by television.

Spectators aboard the Cunard liner Berengaria in mid-Atlantic last night for two hours saw persons in a London studio appear before the transmitting apparatus. They saw the subjects move, and in one case the Image was recognized.

The receiving apparatus aboard the Berengaria was in charge of Capt. O. G. Hutchinson, managing director of the Baird Television Development Company of London. The method used was only slightly different from that used February 7, when spectators in Harrsdale, N. Y., saw a man and woman in the London studio.

On the screen aboard the ship appeared the image of Miss Dora Selvey, fiancee of Chief Radio Operator Stanley Brown of the Berengaria, who recognized Miss Selvey by the characteristic way she has of arranging her hair, and by her profile.

Brown said it was his most thrilling experience when he saw her on the screen.

Half of World Soon to See What Other Half Is Doing

London, March 7 (AP)—Highly elated this morning over the successful transmission of images of persons from a London studio to the SS. Berengaria in mid-ocean, John L. Baird, inventor of the apparatus, said it was only a matter of time until one half of the world would not only hear what the other half was doing, but would see as well.

"Television," he said, "is merely in the development stage. "The day is not far distant when Americans crossing the Atlantic or the Pacific will be able to see, in colors, baseball, football, cricket and other sports, as well as theatrical performances, processions and any other scenes of action worthy of recording for persons scattered about the globe on sea and on land."

STORM ON WAY TO HUB, WITH RAIN OR SNOW

A storm area developing today north of Lake Huron promises to precipitate rain or snow in Greater Boston within 24 hours.

Accompanying the disturbance in its predicted eastward path is a moderate rise in temperature, but following in rapid succession is a colder wave now centred in Minnesota.

Forecast for Boston and vicinity: Partly cloudy and warmer tonight, possibly with some light rain or snow; Thursday, fair and colder; fresh south winds, shifting to west and northwest late tonight.

CONFESSES ON WAY TO PRISON

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
Copyright, 1928, by International News Service

Painesville, O., March 7—Smoking one cigarette after another, Velma West, the blonde flapper "hammer slayer," for the first time today told her own story of the murder of her husband.

She also told of her life, hopes, fears and ambitions, in a remarkable interview with this writer in the Lake County jail just before she departed for the Ohio reformatory for women to serve a term of life imprisonment.

The interview, which lasted more than two hours, was virtually a confession on Velma's part. The only other person present was Sheriff Edward Rasmussen, who solved the murder of T. Edward West, the 28-year-old husband whom Velma hammered to death because he would not allow her to a attend a bridge party. It was Velma's story just as she would have told it on the witness stand had her case gone to trial.

Q By this reporter—Why did you kill your husband?

A—I lost all control of myself. I hit him with the hammer again and again. I did not know what I was doing. It was dreadful.

Q—Was the murder premeditated?

A—No, it all happened so sudden.

MYSTERY IN GRAND JURY PROBE OF GROTON MEN

Amid an atmosphere of mystery, two score town officials and prominent residents of Groton wandered about the corridors of the courthouse at East Cambridge today and one by one went before the grand jury. They were all under summons in a probe, the subject matter of which neither Dist. Atty. Robert T. Bushnell nor his staff would divulge. Rumor was that a new highway proposition is under investigation. All the witnesses were under summons from the district attorney. They included former Police Chief Edward Leavitt, Selectmen Frank A. Torrey, George S. Knapp and Almon Call, Town Treasurer Everett E. Gerrish, Clerk D. C. Parsons of Ayer District Court, Elmer Danville, Robert N. Harvey, Ray Chase, Richard Danielson, Richard Lawrence, L. C. Strand, J. Stafford Sheedy, Clay McKean, Eugene Lincoln, Robert Fletcher and Mason Shattuck.

RUMANIA AND HUNGARY FOR GUN-RUNNER PROBE

Geneva, Switzerland, March 7 (AP)—Both Rumania and Hungary today accepted the proposal of Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister, that a small commitee be appointed with the power to call experts to deal with the situation arising from the discovery of machine gun parts at St. Gotthard.

HAPGOOD AND MARY AWAIT BAIL

$2000 SEEMS LONG IN COMING

Powers Hapgood of New York, representative of the American Civil Liberties Union, and his wife, formerly Mary Donovan of Boston, are still in Luzerne County Prison, charged with inciting to riot in the Pennsylvania coal miners' strike. 100 MAYORS TO 'TOUR N. E.'

More than one hundred mayors, town officials and Chamber of Commerce executives of New England will be guests of the New England Building, Inc., at a "Tour Through New England" luncheon tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock at the Hotel Statler.

W. J. McDonald will outline in detail plans for the regional exhibition, which will be a permanent feature of the New England Building, to be erected in the Park Square District.

"Our plan for showing all New England under one roof in the world's largest building," said Mr. McDonald, "has been received with great enthusiasm throughout New England."

Siamese Twins in Triplets

La Paz, Bolivia, March 7 (AP)—A 17-year-old mother gave birth to girl triplets here, two of them being joined together. The parents have given them one name—Mary.

Professor Saves $75 From Holdup Men by "Forgetting"

Chicago, March 7 (AP)—The absent-minded professor saved himself $75 by being that way.

Kidnaped by two men, taken for a ride down a dark alley and then searched, Prof. Arthur E. Holt of the University of Chicago Divinity School, was found to have only 50 cents in his pockets.

Freed by the disgusted robbers, Professor Holt reported the holdup to police.

"I withdrew $75 from the bank today," he said, "but when I left home I forgot to take it with me."

WATERVILLE, ME., RECOUNT ELECTS DEMOCRAT MAYOR

Waterville, Me., March 7 (AP)—A certificate of election was voted by the board of aldermen early today to Harold A. Dubord, Democratic mayoralty candidate in Monday's election, after the completion of a recount which gave Dubord 3044 votes against 3037 for Chester A. Getchell. The Republicans claimed 3047 for Getchell against 3044 for Dubord.

100 INJURED IN ANTI-JEW RIOT

Warsaw, March 7 (INS)—Anti-Semitic riots took on serious proportions in Lemberg today and 100 persons were injured.

Nationalist students ousted Jewish students from Lemberg University then proceeded to demolish shops of Jewish residents. Many of the shopkeepers were badly beaten. Police arrested 250 rioters.

The riots are the result of ill-feeling following the election Sunday in which two Jews and one Pole were elected to represent the city of Lemberg in Parliament.

Staff Entertained

A dinner and theater party was given to the entire staff of the Howard Clothes, Inc., 43 Belmont st., when the company celebrated its second anniversary in Boston.

BAY STATE CHURCHES FIGHT AGAINST DRUGS

The Porter bill, aimed at saving America from the drug menace and strongly supported by the Hearst newspapers, has won the sympathy of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches.

The federation, which includes nearly all the Protestant denominations, will refer the matter to the Federal Council of Churches in America, the national organization of which the federation is a branch.

The decision to refer to the national council was reached, according to the Rev. Tallmadge Root, executive secretary, only because the question is national in scope and state rights may be involved.

The bill, introduced in Congress by Sibley Porter, provides for establishment of two federal farms to treat persons addicted to drugs.

"We are in sympathy with the general purpose of the bill," said the Rev. Mr. Root, after stating that the executive committee of the Massachusetts federation had considered the question of giving it its indorsement.

"We believe, however, that as it deals with a national problem, with the possibility of states rights being invoked, it would be wise for the national organization to consider the matter.

"I shall, therefore, write at once to Dr. Charles McFarland at Washington, secretary of the national organization, informing him of what the executive committee of the Massachusetts federation has done."

AMERICAN WOMEN ESCAPE IN BRITISH PLANE CRASH

London, March 7 (AP)—Of a half-dozen forced descents of cross-channel airplanes because of a thick fog yesterday, only one today was accompanied by danger. A dispatch from Folkestone to the Daily Mail said a French airplane from Paris to London crashed in a field near the Lympne Airdrome, Kent. Three Americans had a narrow escape. They were Miss Dorothy Palmer of Seattle, Miss Margaret Duncan, who gave her address as "Care the American Express, Paris," and S. Ahlloff, New York city.

Great Story on Life; Gripping as a Novel; Fascinating as a Movie

CHAPTER 20

IN crises our body goes on a "war footing"—as our country did a few years ago. Piano manufacturers began to make airplanes. Artists turned from painting corset advertisements to camouflaging battleships. Our sugar rations were cut, that the fighters might have enough. The entire plant of the nation turned from peaceful pursuits to speed up the fuel for the engines of war. Life had become a dog-fight.

Ever try to take a bone from a dog? Or observe a cat when a dog suddenly appears? Or a mother when some one injures her child? How do you feel when you are "horror-stricken," "sick with disgust," "paralyzed with fear," crazy with pain," or so mad you "choke"? Tongue cleaving to the roof of the mouth, "cold-sweat" pupils of the eye dilated, pounding heart, hurried breathing, hair on end, muscles of face and especially of the lips trembling and twitching; such are among the obvious symptoms of pain, of horror, of fear, etc.

WE recognize many emotional states and are subject to them in varying intensity: pain, anger, fear, rage, horror, sorrow, anxiety, grief, terror, disgust. An insulting word may literally alter our entire nature. We FEEL these states; we observe the results in others. What is not so obvious is that the body itself often undergoes profound physiological change.

The mechanism by which our natures can be suddenly altered is to be found in the middle or sympathetic division of the autonomic nervous system and—according to the theory—the secretion of the medulla of the adrenal gland. The way these two work together and the striking, sudden, and far-reaching consequences of their actions, form the basis for Cannon's claim in 1914 that adrenin is nature's reply to the urgency, the unexpected, acute emergencies of living animals.

BABE RUTH IS BACK IN ACTION

Bambino in Fine Physical Trim in First Workout With Yankees

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 7 —George Herman Ruth is on his way again.

He pushed head and feet through a set of baseball scenery, tightened his belt around a perfect 42 waist line and indulged in his first workout of the season. Babe's jaunt from clubhouse to ball field started his fourteenth season as a major leaguer.

Ruth, as might be expected, hopes to deliver at least 61 home runs for his Yanks and for him the record is the coming campaign. He makes no bones on this score—nothing that might be interpreted as a threat to the pitchers who still be facing him while spring runs into summer and summer in turn does its stuff up and down the thermometer.

FINE PHYSICAL TRIM

Babe has one advantage this year that has not always been his when he made his vernal debut in diamond tonsery. He is in good physical trim. His waist line is down as low as it ever will go while Ruth retains good health and his legs have been hardened by hours and hours of travel over the golf links.

He supplemented his gymnasium work in New York by plunging into golf as soon as he reached St. Petersburg and he never knew when to stop until darkness said the word. In his last days as a golfer Babe played 82 and 84 holes, respectively, and five of his complete rounds showed better than 83. He had one card of 76.

The years show no lessening interest toward the home run monarch.

Ruth's first appearance was under the gaze of some 500 natives and winter visitors.

SUBJECT FOR CAMERAS

Movie cameras churned and still cameras clicked everything Babe did at first base, and even when he was standing motionless, looking on. For this one session at least, other members of Miller Huggins' championship array were just so many sets of caps, uniforms, socks and shoes. Babe was a personality.

Ruth did his fielding at first base, a custom he has followed for many years in spring training. Of course he passed up no opportunity to do his stuff at the plate while the regulars were batting.

He missed many a swing in his best form but he connected now and then and another outfielder turned in home run drives to the crowd. His throwing in the infield drill seemed a bit rash for the first day.

GENE BIANCO TO DEFEND HIS N. E. CROWN

Only one 1927 New England boxing champion is expected to defend his crown at the annual title bouts to be held at the Boston Arena next Monday night. According to present indications Gene Bianco of East Boston will defend his 112-pound title, but the seven other champions have deserted the almon pure ranks for professional circles.

Jack McCarron of Somerville, who won the 135-pound championship last year, has thus far not turned pro, but nothing has been heard concerning his plans. There is the possibility that McCarron may decide to defend his championship.

Francis Moore, Medford; Andy Callahan, Lawrence; Ray Cluskey, Chelsea; Jim Cronin, Somerville; Jimmy Mendes, New Bedford, and Babe Wilson, Charlestown, are 1927 champions who have turned pro during the past year.

This indicates that no less than seven new champions will be crowned next Monday night, and for this reason there is more interest being shown in the tournament than for many seasons. Many promising boys have been developed during the past 12 months who should write amateur fistic history next Monday night in the Arena ring.

Entries continue to pour in from outlying cities, which are taking great interest in the event this year for the first time.

Judging by the demand for tickets at Room 30, 262 Washington st., Hubbard 4642, a capacity crowd will be on hand. On account of the approaching national championships, as well as the selection of the U. S. Olympic team, followers of the pures are manifesting more than ordinary interest in the game this year.

Seven Rhode Island State champions will compete in the tournament for the first time this year. The team will be announced tomorrow.

Joe Stockman, former Dorchester football star and one of the outstanding heavyweights in the New England district, has filed his entry for the bouts and already has started hard training. The Dorchester boy is eager to annex the heavyweight championship this year. The winner will represent the Hub in Detroit at the national junior championships.

RECORD ENTRY LIST AT DILBOY POST SHOW

A record number of entries have been received for the Dilboy Post amateur boxing tournament, to be held tomorrow night at Knights of Columbus Hall, Highland ave., Somerville.

The amateur season is at its height just now and the almon-pur cutlers are certainly all steamed up over this tournament as is evident by the number of entries that have flocked into Dilboy Post. The boxers are not alone, however, as the followers of this class of boxing are also display a keen interest in the show.

Competition will be held in the following classes: 115, 126 135, 147 pounds and heavyweight.

Following are the names of some of the more popular boys who have entered: 115 pounds, Johnnie Daley, Waltham; Charles Longo, North End; 126 pounds, Tony Selleca, Watertown; William de Angelus, North End; 135 pounds, Sammy Mango, Dorchester, Tommy Rawson, East Boston; 147 pounds, James Bullio, Somerville; Mike Berlandi, East Boston; George Russo, Boston heavyweight class, which is being featured, Peter Mann, Stoneham; Jack Hardy, South Boston, and about 10 others.

TIGERS NEED WIN TONIGHT

The Tigers may put forward a new first line in the game tonight in Philadelphia. This is the game the Tigers are anxious to win and fairly assure themselves of the playoffs, although Manager Eddie Powers wants two victories before it is a certainty that his Bengals have qualified in the Canadian-American league money series.

Manager Powers has been experimenting with a new line which comprises George Redding on left wing, Bob Taylor in center and Eddie Burke in right wing. This leaves Powers, Harley Frost, Joe Contant, Sonny Manning, Duke Schutz and Wiley Field for his other line.

The Tiger defense is expected to be at its very best tonight with all four men thoroughly rested. Dormy Desmarais will spare for Eddie Cattenan and Reg Mackey in the outer defense and Capt. Herb Rheaume will be in goal.

The Tigers will return to Boston immediately after tonight's game and start preparing for their important game at Springfield Saturday night.

Army to Meet Navy on Diamond This Year

West Point, N. Y., March 7 (AP)—The Army-Navy baseball classic is off the current athletic card, the two Government institutions will clash on the diamond this year at Annapolis on June 2.

The baseball schedule made public today by Maj. Philip B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at West Point, calls for Army to tussle with the New York Giants here on April 3, inaugurating the opening of the schedule.

Army has games booked with the Yankees, Harvard, Georgetown and Fordham also.

Risko Arrives in N. Y. for Big Bout

New York, March 7 (NNS)—Johnny Risko arrived here today from Cleveland and started in immediately to finish training for his bout with Jack Sharkey at Madison Square Garden next Monday night. Both fighters were ordered by the New York Boxing Commission to complete their training in this city. Sharkey is expected to arrive from Boston tomorrow.

Reformers Dream of Perfect Sport World

By GENE TUNNEY
World's Heavyweight Champion

If all the reforms that have been proposed for sports since the beginning of 1928 were carried out, fans of all descriptions will have nothing in the whole world to talk about forever hereafter. The world of sports will be perfect at last.

Boxing fans will all see a big match in exactly the same light, and whatever the referee says will be law. There will be no indignant letters to the papers after a little match is decided, and sporting writers from coast to coast will all be in harmony for the first time.

Rabbid baseball fans, when a man is called out as he slides home will turn to each other and remark: "Now isn't that just too bad?" And it will be the umpires instead of the Babe Ruths who will be triumphantly carried off the field on the shoulders of admiring fans.

At least this is how it appears to me after glancing through the list of reforms that have been suggested from day to day all through the winter "interwever" season. There most assurerlly is room for reform in almost every line of sport, but hopeful fans should remember that it isn't violent reform that any sport needs.

It is merely changes to suit conditions as they arise. Standardization might better be applied to any changes that are recommended for boxing, but so long as conditions remain so widely different in almost every city of the United States there is no much hope that this will come about, at least this year.

CONDITIONS in New York are always under fire and they may be far from perfect, but the fact that there is less interference with the commission than in many other cities where State and local officials are continually clashing.

It has always been beyond me why boxing should continue to cause political quarrels, although I suppose it is probably because boxing is still considered wicked by some people and the holding of a bout is looked upon as a special privilege.

This seems to have been the case in the recent resurrection of the anti-fight pictures law, which came to grief in New York when courts applied the test of common sense to the ancient ruling against boxing pictures and approved their exhibition in the Eastern metropolis. So there is one reform that seems to have been already instituted in the wake of the 1928 wave.

State commission suspensions and recognitions of titles seem to be the principal points of conflict in the boxing world left to be settled.

It would seem to be comparatively easy matter to standardize state rules but that is far from true as the present commission system is under laws passed by state Legislatures of widely varied complexions, whereas the officials of other sports are free to act as they like in co-operation with other sections of the country.

As it is, the commission of one state can hardly be expected to know what all other states are doing nor can they always avoid stepping on the toes of another commission.

JUST recently members of the New York commission were discussing the ruling of the Pennsylvania boxing authorities in which Pete Nebo was given a decision over Benny Bass. It was considered that an injustice had been done, in that one judge voted for Bass and the other for Nebo, while the referee, casting the deciding vote, gave the decision to Nebo instead or letting the match go as a draw.

During the discussion, however, the New York state boxing laws were brought out and it was shown that the Pennsylvania and New York laws are exactly the same in giving the referee the final right of decision.

Likewise, at the same meeting Eddie Long, manager for Bud Taylor, was suspended for loud talking in his principal's corner, but it would be in perfectly good standing in states where he hasn't yet raised his voice above the forbidden tone.

Joe Dundee cannot accept the recent challenge of Hilario Martinez in New York, but he was free to meet and knock out Clyde Hull in Cleveland. It all works both ways and is admittedly awkward but the officials themselves are not at fault.

HOPI INDIAN LEADS PYLE PACK

Victorville, Cal. March 7 (NNS)—Their ranks somewhat thinned by the great grind, the motley collection of runners, whose sole ambition is to take possession of C. C. Pyle's $25,000 prize, was ready to begin the fourth lap of the long Marathon, stretching from Los Angeles to New York, today.

Replacing Willie Kohlemainen, the Finnish flash, Chief Wick Quomahaiu, Hopi Indian, was in the lead, as the fourth episode of the heel and toe spectacle was to begin.

Although he was not as fleet as Nestor Erickson, another son of Finland, in yesterday's run between Bloomington and Victorville, the Redskin still had the edge in the matter of elapsed time. Quomawahu's elapsed time thus far is 15 hours, 35 minutes and 15 seconds.

Erickson ran the third lap in 6 hours, 47 minutes and 20 seconds, while the Finn's time for the 45 miles was 6 hours and 55 minutes.

Arthur Newton of England, holder of many world's Marathon records, finished third in the lap.

TWO TEAMS TIE IN N. Y. RACE

New York, March 7 (AP)—After a night of desperate riding featured by many stolen laps, two teams were still tied for first place at the end of the 55th hour in the six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden.

The deadlocked teams were the French combination of Letourner-Broccardo and the Italian-American pair of Belisal-Beckman. They had ground out 896 miles 9 laps.

Pressing them closely were three other teams, just a lap to the rear. These were Georgetti-Debaets, Spencer-Walther and Walker-Hill. The rest of the field was scattered.

The standing:

Teams	Miles	Laps	Pts.
Letourner-Broccardo	896	9	104
Belisal-Beckman	896	9	88
Georgetti-Debaets	896	9	91
Spencer-Walther	896	9	61
Walker-Hill	896	9	61
Kolberger-Winter	896	9	46
Vandet-Deneuse	896	9	120
Moran-Gaetano	896	9	103
Zecchetti-Boggman	896	9	76
Saffray-Cyclay	896	9	73
Knechler-Mortner	896	9	69
Sauerte-Lands	896	9	59
Broom-Peter	896	9	46
Rose-Sandowsky	895	9	61

Mullen Offers McLarnin $50,000

Chicago, March 7 (AP)—Promoter Jim Mullen today offered Jimmy McLarnin a flat guarantee of $50,000 to engage Sammy Mandell for the world's lightweight championship here June 21, raising his previous offer $20,000.

BRUINS NOW LEAD LEAGUE

(AP)—The Boston Bruins directed the parade of the American group hockey sextets of the big league alone today with a two-point advantage over the Rangers.

Boston defeated the world champion Ottawa club last night by 1 to 0 at the Arena, Schapper scoring the lone goal.

At Montreal the Maroons won from the Rangers 2 to 1.

Detroit strengthened its grip on third place in the American contingent standing by trouncing Toronto 2 to 1, while Pittsburgh bowed to the Canadiens 3 to 1. The Cougars now hold a four-point margin over the fourth-place Pirates.

BRAVES ARE HEADED FOR FIRST DIV.

Slattery and Hornsby Advance Sound Reason Why Tribe Should Land There

By NICK FLATLEY

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 7—Jack Slattery and Rogers Hornsby, strategy board of the Boston Braves, are pointing their ball club for the first division. They can see chances after two weeks of training, of getting up into that first flight. They're both taking this baseball business very seriously, and their feelings have spread around the club.

Jack and Rogers room together and they chatter baseball far into the night. They talk it all day long with the players, from the time they come down for breakfast until the squad retires somewhere before midnight.

Nick Flatley.

"There is more baseball discussed and planned here than we have ever seen or heard in any southern camp and that includes a couple run by George Stallings, the greatest of all baseball fanatics.

Jack and Rogers have sensible baseball notions. They don't go for the trick stuff. They know and speculate ability rather than averages. The more one sees of them the more one is inclined to realize that the Braves have about the best combination of bench and field leaders in the large pastime.

REAL DOPE ON RACE

Here's the way they dope the next National League race, although they don't do it for publication. But one collects the basic thought behind remarks that fly here and there.

The Braves, as they stand now, are strong enough, playing just fair baseball, to beat out the lowly Phillies and the weakened Robins. That insures sixth place. The Cincinnati club is an old ball. Its pitchers are all veterans, and its success depends on its box strength. The Reds' old-timers could not get going at all last spring. By the time they worked into shape the club had fallen out of the race completely.

The old boys came through with a good finish, but it didn't take them anywhere. Baseball men can not see why that staff will be any better this spring. They expect it to be a bit worse. And they think that extra campaigning ruin chances of a winning as impressive as the 1927 trot, dish.

The Braves, strengthened by Hornsby, would seem to have a chance of slipping in past the Cincinnati club, if that outfit doesn't come up with some unexpected strength.

The St. Louis Cards finished well up last year, but they were staggering at the finish. The team that won the pennant for Hornsby isn't getting stronger. Doubt about management authority and tenure of office haven't helped club harmony if the truth be known.

An uncertain team can flop horribly and the Cards looked that way last fall. They have a new manager, who was dished by Pittsburgh after losing out in the pennant race in 1926. Mister McKechnie will have no cinch winning the confidence of the St. Louis athletes who felt they were tossed around a bit a year ago.

The Chicago Cubs, with remarkable spring and early summer pitching, almost ran away with the race last season. But the team blew wide open in the last rush, and the effects of that explosion will not help Joe McCarthy in this scramble's. The rest of the league will be watching the Chicago troupe closely, too, and that will not make the trail easier. In addition, Sparky Adams, who was the playing life of the team, has been traded.

REASON FOR HUSTLE

The little chap was a real spark and the infield will be weakened by his absence. Cuyler will help the outfield and at the bat, of course, but that team did not really need outfield strength. Its infield wasn't quite up to championship class, and now the best man in it is gone.

Our Braves, with a lucky break and the pitching the boys expect from Greenfield, Genewich and Betty Brandt from the coast, are given an outside ticket to nose out either the Cards or the Cubs. In the minds of the leaders, that is.

Any team that can play .500 baseball can horn into the first division these days. And any team in the first division of a close race always has a chance to collect. That is the thought back of the daily earnest instructions of Manager Slattery; that is the thought of Hornsby as he keeps the players keyed up by working harder than any of them.

That is why this Brave camp is probably the busiest and most serious of all the 1928 training spots. Believe it or not, the boys are hustling down this way, and

Red Sox Battle St. Louis Cards Today

By JOE CASHMAN

Bradenton, Fla., March 7—With Manager Bill Carrigan planning to send his strongest lineup into battle, and Manager Bill McKechnie determined to use as many as 25 men to win, if necessary, the Sox-Cardinals clash here today promises to be a heroic affair.

There is no doubt about St Louis' desire to win at any cost The size of the squad, which arrived this morning, is ample proof of that for it is most unusual for more than 18 players to be taken on a 100-mile trip, such as the Cards had to make to reach here from their camp at Avon Park.

One peek at the husky Mound City athletes was enough to satisfy Carrigan that the visitors are intent upon a scalping and he immediately announced that every Sox position would be manned by a regular.

Joe Cashman

The Fenway pilot, as has been stated before, is not greatly interested in the outcome of any exhibition game. He has no desire, though, to see his charges slaughtered, so he will put on his strongest from this afternoon.

That means that Todt, Regan, Rogell and Rothrock will play in the infield and Flagstead and the Williams boys in the outfield with Heving and Hoffman dividing the catching.

If these players are as good as they have looked in the recent scrub games with the Yannigans and Russell, Wiltse, Markham and Garrison, the hurlers listed to work have any stuff at all, Manager McKechnie may be thankful he brought so many men along before the game is over.

The new Cardinal pilot had not decided on his starting lineup.

THEVENOW IN LINEUP

At least, that is what he claims and he is not expected to announce his team until just before game time. That all his stars such as Frankie Frisch, Bob Bottomley, Tommy Thevenow, Lester Bell and Bob O'Farrell would see action seemed certain after looking them over. They appear in fine trim and ready to go nine innings at top speed

The cards are powerful and, on paper, should win, but the Sox have no fear of them and regardless of the outcome of the game, the fans should receive their moneys worth.

One of the largest crews to ever attend a game in Bradenton will watch the big leaguers in action and the sentiment will be 100 per cent for the Sox, which ought to help some.

Bob Quinn's hired men have become the idols of the natives since coming to town and even if they hadn't, the crowd would be pulling for them today as the Cards are in a wrong in this vicinity, having quit the place after training here for two years, an unpardonable sin in any Florida hamlet.

Tomorrow the Sox will make a 80-mile jaunt to Winter Haven to take on the Phillies. Eighteen men, under the direction of Bill Carrigan, will make the trip, most of them rookies. The Sox skipper plans to send most of his new men into this game in order to get a line on all his charges before the first game with the Braves here on Friday.

ROOKIES TO FACE PHILS

The Winter Haven party will include Wilson, Bradley, Bennett, Settlemire, Morris and Cremins, pitchers; Hofmann, Berry and Doherty, catchers; Lajeski, Myer, Rollings, Cicero, Hinson and Barkiewicz, infielders, and Taitt, Loep and Tarbert, outfielders.

Coach Heinie Wagner will remain at home with the regulars to see that they have sufficient work to put them on edge for the all-important clash with the Tribe.

Red Sox Notes

The regulars handed the Yannigans another drubbing in the third scrub game, winning, 7 to 2, in five innings.

Merle Zettlemire, young southpaw, hurled great ball during the three innings he worked for the regulars, only nine men facing him. He gave one pass, but evened matters by catching the runner off first a few moments later.

The home run race was officially started in the first innings, when Denny Williams hit for the circuit, Todt and Young Cicero drew up on even terms with the fly chasers by pulling out four-ply wallops later on

Cicero's drive was a beauty, going over the wire fence in deep right center. It takes a lot of power for a right-handed batter like the 16-year-old Joseph to drive one where he did.

Carrigan got tired of seeing Ehmke Collins loafing around so he pressed him into service as a base umpire.

A local resident named Grahame worked behind the plate. His performance was so satisfactory that he will continue to work for the team in the exhibition games.

Ed Morris, on the mound for the Yans, was found for five runs in three innings, but he appeared to have more on the ball than any of the other flingers who toiled.

B. U. Fencing Team Meets Harvard Today

Boston University will meet the crack Harvard fencing team at the Hemenway gymnasium today. The Crimson is favored to win easily as the Terriers have only one man on their team who is a real foilsman.

Sig Lavine, last year's captain, has not been defeated in competition this year. He has scored practically all B. U.'s points this winter. Lavine has won two meets single handed. Today, however, he will have enough work to keep his slate clean, and it will be up to the rest of the team to get the needed points to win the match

GREENLEAF FAVORED TO WIN NATIONAL TITLE

Chicago, March 7 (INS)—Ralph Greenleaf of New York, former national titleholder, was a popular favorite today following his brilliant 125 to 59 victory over Joseph Concannon of Washington, D. C., in last night's session of the Round Robin pocket billiards championship tournament.

Joseph Wood of Duluth defeated Onofrio Lauri, New York State

PENN PLAYS IMPORTANT GAME WITH YALE TONIGHT

New York, March 7 (INS)—A victory by Pennsylvania over Yale tonight will insure the Quakers at least a tie for first place in the Eastern intercollegiate basketball race. In the only other league game scheduled for tonight, Princeton takes on Columbia.

Service Series Tied

New London, Ct., March 7— Tieing up the race for the championship of the inter-service competition of the North Atlantic coast, the Naval Hospital team of Newport, R. I., defeated the coast guard destroyer force here in a basketball game, 44 to 32. Another game will be played off between the two teams to decide the championship

BOXING BOUTS AT UNIV. CLUB TONIGHT

The first boxing exhibition to be held in the clubhouse will be given tonight. Members of the Harvard varsity team will be paired off as follows:

First bout: Jack Parkinson, varsity guard and present middleweight champion at Harvard, vs. George Burns, present welterweight champion.

Second bout: Milton Krook, bantamweight champion, vs. Aaron Gordon, featherweight champion.

There will also be a bout between the following Tufts College varsity boxers, in the 125-pound class: Ben Amin Bregman, '30, vs. Angelo Le Vetere, '30.

There will be three informal wrestling bouts, between members of the Harvard varsity team and members of the Tufts varsity team, as follows:

125-Pound Class—I. G. Garcelon Tufts '27, and present New England Intercollegiate champion vs. H. G. Sanders, Harvard, '30.

135-Pound Class—C. N. Levine, Harvard '29 vs. C. C. King, Harvard.

145-Pound Class—E. C. Sykes, Harvard '29 vs. W. J. Seaver, Tufts '29.

Members of the Harvard fencing team will stage a bout of fencing with sabres and a bout of fencing with foils, as follows:

Foils—C. I. Hooper, Harvard '29 varsity captain vs. D. Modell, Harvard '30.

Sabres—M. R. Bernier vs. G. Dimbeen.

Moncton Sends Down Strong Hockey Team

Moncton, New Brunswick, will send the most powerful team ever gathered in the Maritime provinces against the University Club in the international game at the Arena tomorrow and Friday nights.

This Moncton outfit is an all-star outfit recruited from the ranks of the Truro Bearcats and the Kentville Wildcats, in addition to the stellar players in the Moncton district.

Many of these players have visited Boston in past seasons and learned that the only successful way to combat the University Club forces is to have plenty of spares on hand. With this in mind Manager W. B. Kelvey of the Moncton team has selected only two less that could be found in the Maritime Provinces

The Moncton team that takes the ice against George Owen's team tomorrow night is stronger and better balanced than the Truro Bearcats who defeated the University Club 6 to 1 in Halifax two weeks ago, and Boston fans appreciate how clever the Bearcats are.

Two cracker-jack forward lines will be sent into action by Moncton. For one line the Down Easters have Don Glennie, former McGill University star, on left wing, Sammy Murdock of Truro, center, and Doucie Kuhn of Truro, right wing

The second line comprises Earl Corvin, left wing; Patty Gould, center, and Willard James, right wing. Gould scored two goals for Truro against the University Club and the latter players are generous in their praise of his hockey skill. Dud James, the fastest skater in the Maritime Provinces, is another spare Moncton forward.

The Moncton team is travelling under the name of the Canadian National Athletic

HOLY CROSS PLAYS AT TUFTS

Jumbo Coach Shifts Lineup for His Closing Basketball Game Tonight

A fighting Tufts basketball team will attempt to vindicate itself for a poor season's record by pinning a defeat on Holy Cross tonight at Goddard gym.

It is the closing game of the season for the Jumbos at both Medford hospitators are especially anxious to stage a strong finish. A win over the strong Purple will be popular with the student body and will do much to strengthen their faith in Manly's coaching methods.

The former Worcester college athlete seems at last to have found a scoring combination after experimenting practically he entire season. After suffering eight consecutive defeats the Jumbo quintet with almost a new lineup last week walloped both Worcester Poly and M. A. C.

Captain "Pie" Stanley has relinquished his place at center to "Shrim" Brehaut because of his height is more than offset by his weight and scoring ability.

Both Hermann and Horton have yielded their forward berths, Warren, filling Horton's position, had hardly seen action until last week, yet he was high scorer in both the Worcester and Aggie games. Manly will center his offense around Warren in the Holy Cross affair tonight.

Abrams has been moved up from left guard to succeed Hermann and Abrams' position has been filled by "Red" Butera, who also has the only a spare. Weinsider, the other guard, is the only man to hold his former berth.

Murchison Hangs Up Track Shoes

Ada, Okla., March 7 (AP)—Returning to the state where he first aspired to track fame, Loren Murchison, Olympic sprint and former king of sprinters, has announced his retirement from competition.

Arriving here with his wife and brother to visit friends, Murchison said a recent illness and operation had left him unfit for competition for the present at least, and his believed it best to retire.

Murchison is recuperating from an attack of cerebral spinal meningitis. He plans to go to San Antonio, Tex., for an indefinite period.

COST YOUNG FORTUNE

BASEBALL WORLD WATCHES

Johnny Cissell, the swellest piece of baseball bric-a-brac that has come up in years. Johnny cost the Chicago White Sox treasury an even $123,000 and he is insured for the same amount. Johnny is a short stop. Manager Ray Schalk claims he will sizzle when the big campaign gets under way.

Howe to Mt. Pleasant

Walter Howe, former professional at the Bellevue Golf Club, has accepted the pro position of the new Mt. Pleasant Club, a nine-hole course constructed by Worcester golfers at Leicester. Howe will start his duties there in the immediate future.

EAGLES TO HAVE FAST TEAM THIS YEAR

By JOHN B. GILLOOLY

Hugh Duffy, veteran big leaguer who is known from coast to coast by every baseball fan, wears a broad smile as he treads to the Commonwealth Armory each afternoon to assume the duties of his new job as coach of the Boston College baseball team, successor to Jack Slattery.

Won't someone please wipe that smile off Duffy's face? For as his friends know fully for the choice does not belong. He has practically a veteran nine, with a few stellar recruits left over from last spring and a whole freshman squad to work with.

To begin with, the championships at this early date is not too absurd a thing to get to go wrong and the proverbial monkey wrench will be tossed in the delicate machinery, but it hard to gaze into the crystal ball and see anything but a second B. C. ball team.

Jack Slattery's nine of last spring started off in much the same way and wound up as one of the best in the country with a trio of wins over Harvard. The same nine which started against Holy Cross last spring, with the exception of Johnny McNamara, who is now with the Braves, is available once more.

And the hurler who is credited with the three victories over the Purple is only in his junior year and showing great signs at the Armory with each practice session. He is Hugh McNulty, a frail, young Brighton boy, who looks as though he might be a star on the freezing team rather than the mighty silencer of opposing willow.

Phil McMenimen, varsity catcher for three seasons, is back wearing the shackles of captain, the reward of a grand season's work. It would be hard to pick a better man for the job than the B. C. hill team. Fred Bowen and the other field post candidates must be ess ntial to a championship team.

LULL STRIKES SCHOOLBOY ATHLETICS

This is the first week in a good many months that schoolboy fans have had to go searching for some places to go and something to do. It is the first week in the entire winter that the schoolboy athletes have not been doing their stuff fast and furious.

This, perhaps, comes in comparison with last week, when there was a meet every day at the East Armory and the State championships on Saturday. But true enough it is that no season is coming to a slow close.

The B. interscholastics and Bowdoin Interscholastics will ring the winter curtain down. A few basketball games, a couple of swimming meets and the Tech court tournament and the season will be written in the books.

But just around the corner lies the hockey baseball ready to rush forth as soon as the few final events are run and the winter athletic season closed. Most of the coaches have to ishis of baseball, and the schools that have gyms of course, in which baseball workouts can be held, will soon be sounding the clarion for candidates.

Latin school pitchers and catchers have a big jump on the rest of the local nines. The Purple battery-men have been working out at the school gym for more than three weeks and it can be said that they are ready to cut loose with their stuff as soon as the weather permits outdoor practice.

This early start will be a big help to the Latin nine this spring and Coach Cronin Fitzgerald has this year pared on the City League championship. He has two good pitchers in his roster in the persons of Red Hunt and Ernie Vogel.

A four-cornered swimming meet among Worcester, Charlestown, Tech and Latin High will be held at the Tech pool this afternoon. The public is invited to attend, but they're apt to have a spicy time. Boston College high will test the Malden tank for their annual meet.

Wales Second in Lord Manners' Race

Leicester, Eng., March 7 (AP)—The Lord Manners Cup steeplechase, one of the most valuable jumping events of the year for the Lord Manners cup was run on the Leicester course today.

HARVARD FROSH FENCING TEAM DEFEATS ENGLISH

The Harvard freshmen fencing team defeated the English High School team of Hennessey at Cambridge 5 to 3. Capt. Koretsky of English defeated Morell and MacFadden of Harvard, 5 to 3, and lost to Capt. Wenselman of Harvard, 5 to 2. Capt. Wenselman of the freshmen won all three matches.

McGOVERN FINDS GENE IN SHAPE

Heavyweight Champ Leads a Simple Life in Florida Camp

New York, March 7 (AP)—Gene Tunney may have his social obligations to fulfill while spending most of the winter in Florida, but the heavyweight champion is not allowing them to interfere with preparations for his fistic engagements in the summer.

The picture of Gentleman Gene, as brought back from Miami Beach by the big gymnasium and muscle man, Artie McGovern, is not of an athlete in repose on the sands, but of an energetic young business man concentrating upon the plans for one or two deals this year in left hooks preferred.

"Tunney is close to fighting shape right now, training regularly and thoroughly," said McGovern. "Like Babe Ruth, he knows the value of all year-around condition. Gene is within three pounds of his best fighting weight now. He doesn't vary that much the year round, he told me."

SIMPLE SCHEDULE

For those who may be skeptical of the way Mr. Tunney puts in his time, this is a sample daily schedule verified by Mr. McGovern:

Up and dressed by 8:30 or 8:45, regularly, after going through a series of setting-up exercises.

Light workout, rope-skipping, shadow-boxing and sparring with one or more of his camp mates.

Hearty breakfast, about 10:30, the first of only two meals on the daily schedule.

Attends to correspondence and other business until about 1:30.

Afternoon diversion, usually golf, champion's only sport hobby outside the ring.

Dinner at about 6:30, followed by evening social activity or reading before retiring in time to insure regular rest of at least eight hours.

The opinion abroad that Gentleman Gene has become "high hat" since assuming championship status is not shared by Professor McGovern.

"I think some of the boys do Gene an injustice in spreading that idea," said Artie. "They do not understand him.

"Gene is not a professional glad handler and never will be.

TUNNEY'S OWN BUSINESS.

"Neither has he any aids around to promote his personality and color. The champion has never pulled any of the 'How are you, kid' stuff, accompanied by the old slap on the back, just for effect. That may be why some of the boys think he's up-stage.

"There's one thing you can be sure of. Gene Tunney knows his own business and attends to it himself. If and when he takes it on the chin, and stays down, it won't be because he has neglected to be fit in mind and body."

Tunney's rules for health and proper condition are far from complicated.

"If I were passing on any advice to boys and young men," Gene told McGovern, "I would urge them to do these four main things—exercise consistently and properly, regulate the daily schedule, eat wholesome food and avoid stimulants."

These are the champion's rules. He neither drinks nor smokes. He does not use even coffee or tea. Two quarts of water are part of his daily diet. While he is in training camp before a fight he drinks two quarts of milk daily.

BOSTON MAN WINNER IN DIXIE TITLE PLAY

Miami, Fla., March 7—C. E. Prodie upheld Boston's prestige in the first-round matches of the annual Dixie championship competition here.

He was a winner in the first 18 over J. S. Gill of New York by the overwhelming margin of 6 up and 5 to play.

In the same division C. S. Annis, Boston veteran, defaulted to Harcourt M. Brice, local star. Hal Whitney of Boston was beaten in the second group by W. C. Butler of Chicago, 3 and 1. C. A. Phinney, the other Boston entry, also was defeated in this division, 5 and 4, by James West of Atlanta.

AMHERST FIVE ELECTS JOE NAVIN CAPTAIN

Amherst, March 7—Joseph M. Navin of Waterbury, Ct., has been elected captain of the 1929 Amherst basketball team. He has starred for the Lord Jeffs for three seasons at the forward post. The following men were awarded letters: Capt. Walker, Miller, Navin, Latnan, Harmon, Notopoulos, Wilson, Dean, Wright, Meek and Mount (manager).

Tunney's Next Foe Will Be Jack Sharkey

New York, March 7—It took the New York State athletic committee about seven minutes to perform a task which Tex Rickard with his heavyweight boxing elimination series has failed to do after seven months.

The New York boxing fathers settled with little cause for doubt the identity of Gene Tunney's opponent in his world championship title fight in June—if any.

The opponent will be Jack Sharkey of Boston.

The commission, with a few negative gestures, eliminated Sharkey as a main opponent in the elimination series, Tom Heeney of New Zealand. On previous occasions Paulino Uzcudun, the strong Spaniard; Johnny Risko, the Cleveland rubber man, and Jack Delaney also attempted to eliminate Heeney and with negative gestures—the same being futile uppercuts and left hooks—but failed.

Charley Harvey, half of the Heeney management, appeared before the commission with Heeney's challenge of Tunney, and $2505 forfeit money to bind the challenge.

Harvey was told that Sharkey's challenge had already been filed. When Harvey asked if Sharkey would be made to fight Heeney should he defeat Johnny Risko Monday night, the commission was evasive.

And while this was transpiring, Tex Rickard was threatening to call off the June heavyweight title fight, "If neither Sharkey nor Risko do anything sensational in their fight Monday night, I will wait until fall. I can use the ball parks to settle the disputes in the light-heavyweight divisions."

When asked if this meant a third Dempsey-Tunney bout this year, Rickard replied: "No, I don't really expect Dempsey back. His words to me have been very positive."

Rickard, while not publishing the fact, is positive that Sharkey will make an excellent showing against Risko, and feels that the Boston gob is the leading heavyweight contender at present.

Amateurs Clash at Roslindale Tonight

All arrangements are complete for the amateur boxing bouts tonight at the Municipal Building, Roslindale, and some of the very best boys in the state have entered. Late entries from out of town brought in the names of three of the best "pulers" in New England, boys who are considered real topnotchers by the sporting experts, and the large audience will witness several surprises.

The affair is under the auspices of the Holy Name Athletic Association of the West Roxbury Republic district, and the proceeds will go to charity. It is expected that the fair sex will occupy a good section of the hall, which has been reserved for them by the committee. There will be four classes and the entry list indicates a lengthy show.

DAN HARRIS TO JOIN BEAUMONT

Dan Harris, the former Dartmouth first baseman, will leave his home in Gloucester this week to join the Beaumont team of the Texas League. Harris started his professional baseball with San Antonio last spring, but he was farmed out to Wichita.

Although Harris has been out of Dartmouth for two years, he is only 20 years of age. He reported to San Antonio last spring and during the exhibition games against Detroit hit .333 and handled everything around first base in great style. Harris was sent up to Kansas to join the Wichita club for experience and played fine ball all season. He will be released by the Beaumont club at the minor league meeting in Dallas last December.

Harris has been playing basketball with the Gloucester team all winter and is in the best condition. As he hit for .274 during his first year in the professional ranks, he is expected to finish in the .300 class this season.

Harris stands about six feet two inches, bats and throws right-handed and is one of the best curve ball hitters ever turned out by Jeff Tesreau. He started his baseball with the Gloucester high school, and after playing the initial sack for the Dartmouth freshman held down the first base berth for three years on the varsity.

As Harris has received a very flattering offer to coach one of the high schools up in the Berkshires, this will, in all probability, be his last year of professional baseball.

TERRIERS PLAY TECH TONIGHT

Boston University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will resume basketball relations at the Tech hangars, tonight, after a lapse of three years.

Tech will have the advantage of playing on its home floor, but the Terriers are in the midst of a winning streak, and as the team has to win its next two games to finish its season with more wins than losses, the team will play its hardest to win.

Coach Win Karlson will start Capt. Lou Cohen and Glenn O'Brien at forwards, Jess Hodgdon at center, and Pete Soutiere and Ted Bartlett, guards. The Terriers' mentor is confident that this quintet is strong enough to take the measure of the home team.

Dazzy Vance Signs for $20,000 a Year

Clearwater, Fla., March 7—Dazzy Vance, with one stroke of the pen, has become the highest paid pitcher in the history of organized baseball.

It took but a brief conference to adjust matters. Those who attended the momentous event were Vance, President Wilbert Robinson and Directors John Scholl and Ed Ebbets of New York. The latter came for the purpose of signing the redhead strikeout king.

The contract is for one year. The salary will be $20,000. Vance also demanded an extra bonus of $2000 but the officials of the club turned holdouts and Vance signed.

BUD TAYLOR COMES FROM BEHIND TO WIN VERDICT

Los Angeles, March 7 (AP)—Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., whom the National Boxing Association rates as the lightweight champion of the world, won a hard-fought decision over Benito Fernandez of Spain at the Coliseum here tonight.

Fernandez floored Taylor once in the sixth and repeated in the seventh in the clinches. The seventh was the best of the fight.

Taylor had Fernandez on the verge of a knockout in the eighth. The Filipino took a bad beating to the head in the ninth, and in the tenth Taylor finished at his best.

Lawder Gets Medal

Williamstown, March 7—The Brooks football medal, offered annually at Williams College to the member of the team who is considered the most valuable during the season, has been awarded to Douglas Lawder, '28, of New York City.

He has played guard for two years on the Purple eleven and scored three touchdowns last fall. He also acted as captain of the varsity eleven in several games.

The Brooks medal is given in memory of Belvidere Brooks, who was graduated from Williams in 1910, and who captained the team the previous fall. He was killed in France during the war.

BRAVES POINT FOR FIRST DIVISION

the results should appear along about mid April.

The last of the pennigan games was booked for this p m. The real contests start Friday with a Red Sox game, and from that time on, contests have been arranged for practically every day until the season opens. Tomorrow's workout will be two solid hours of batting practice and a long spell of fielding.

Manager Slattery will put what he calls his first team against the Red Sox, but he will also give the promising kids a show in that and the succeeding peastimes. He is getting ready to make his first cut, and wants a little more line on several of the kids. All his good prospects who need more experience will go to Providence, the Tribal farm.

Braves Notes

Dinny McNamara furnished the feature of the Tuesday tie by robbing Hornsby of a triple with a remarkable one-hand catch, one of the best ever. The former Eagle also hit safely once and nearly defeated a bunt.

Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald and his wife are visiting at the Braves camp. So much enthusiasm here that J. F. is humming Texas.

Young Master Hornsby has blistered feet, breaking in new shoes and will keep out of the day's game, although he will practice hitting. A bigger contract couldn't keep him from that.

Dolly Lewis is around looking for players for Portland. He will have to wait a week or two before getting a shot at anything he wants.

Henry Peplowsky gets in his daily blows and continues to field well. He's beginning to worry some of the regular infielders.

Real hot weather has arrived and the athletes are going in for Gulf bathing after the long workout. Trainer Nesty says it will stiffen them a little, but otherwise will help them.

There is a wild demand for seats for the series with the Yanks. The Ruth, Gehrig, Hornsby combine means plenty in the box office.

SONNENBERG TO WRESTLE FELICE HERE

Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg continues his winning streak on the mat.

Monday night he polished off George Leon in six minutes, which makes him 11 straight wins.

Tomorrow night he is down for a one fall match with Tony Felice, a clever Italian wrestler, Felice is a clever wrestler and is likely to make it a rough, ready night for Gus.

This is one of the four matches that precede the chin between Joe Gal Komar and Alexander Garkawlenko at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night.

Komar and Garka are both confident of victory. Komar states that he won't give Garka much time to pull his gallery stuff tomorrow night.

The Hull has in mind the bout Garkawlenko has on the Lithuanian champion, Joe Sarpolis, right here in Boston last year. He plans a slash, tearing in battle. He will rely on the flying mare and an inside crotch.

Garkawlenko no doubt will rely on his aeroplane whirl although he has a wrinkle or two of flying moves.

Marin Plestina will make his first appearance here in a number of years, meeting Farmer George McLeod in a special 30-minute limit bout. McLeod was for from a well man in the last appearance here but now feels right again. Plestina at present is around New York and the so-called tough wrestlers have developed pains and aches and don't seem to have time to meet him.

Abe Kaplan, Jewish champ, will meet Joe Turner, clever Lithuanian grappler, in another bout on the card while Charlie Hansen is slated to tie Joe Jepson in a grudge tussle in another bout.

KEN MARSHALL WITH UNION A. A.

With Ken Marshall added to the Union A. A. of Norwell this team is expected to make a formidable appearance against the Hudson Hockey Club in the main feature of tonight's triple-header at the Arena. With Doucette, the Hall brothers, Deacon and Copley, Bibby and Bob Davis Union has a strong outfit.

Charlie O'Learn, former Yale sport ace, will be in the Hudson lineup against Union.

Two old rivals will meet in the second game tonight when Saugus A. A. squares off against the Ipswich Hockey Club. Saugus has won nine and lost one game in the Middlesex Rocky League series.

Rich comedy is promised in tonight's third fixture which finds the Tri-Mountain Everetts battling the Park Panthers, leading colored hockey team of the East.

Forbes Arlington Capt.

Sherman Forbes, star defense player, is the captain-elect of the Arlington high school hockey team. He succeeds Arthur Lane.

Forbes played a little in the forward line in addition to his regular duties as defense, thus showing his ability as an all-round man on the ice.

He and John Manning, goal, will be the only players left from this year's squad. John Yale, class of 1930, has been chosen manager. Thirteen letters, including a manager's letter, will be awarded in hockey.

MR. BOSTON By Jack Conway

MIKE McTIGUE, former world's light heavyweight champion, wandered into Kelley & Hayes' gym to take a peek at Jack Sharkey who is putting on the finishing touches to his training for his 15-round bout with Risko which will be staged at Madison Square Garden, New York, on Monday night.

McTigue probably has a better line on Sharkey and Risko than anyone else as he has fought both men. He was beaten by Sharkey, who subdued Risko.

"What do you think about Sharkey's condition?" asked Mr. Boston.

"He's boxing well," replied McTigue. "There's plenty of power behind his left hand. When he lets it go from the shoulder, it is a cuttingripping punch.

"I think Sharkey looks in better condition than he did for Dempsey or Heeney. He's now more like the fellow who beat me.

"I made the supreme effort of my career against Sharkey. He was wonderful that night. His timing was perfect, while he only missed a few punches. He was equally effective with his left and right hands.

"When Sharkey opened up on Heeney, he looked great but at times he did much holding which handicapped his work. I believe this was due to lack of perfect condition caused by inactivity."

JOHNNY BUCKLEY provided the party and asked McTigue whom he thought should win the Sharkey-Risko bout.

"If Sharkey uses his natural boxing class, he should win handily," replied McTigue. "A fast fellow like Sharkey should left hand Risko to death. In close, Sharkey should either turn Risko around or give him plenty of bobbing, weaving tactics. It would be twelve for Sharkey to match his strength against Risko's. That would be boxing right into the Cleveland baker boy's hands. At the best Risko is a rough, tough fellow.

"Risko has kept active in the ring and ring [illegible] edge condition. He has also got into the big [illegible] fighter early himself.

JAMES JOY JOHNSTON, the "Bey Bandit" of Broadway who is Johnny Buckley's New York sentry, then took the floor.

JOHNNY BUCKLEY announced that Sharkey would wind up his training in Boston this afternoon and hop off for New York at 5 p. m. Mrs. Sharkey, Buckley, Harry Kelley, Joe Monte and Lou Bogash will be in the Sharkey party.

In New York, the Boston contender will work [illegible] gym. He considers Stillman's big hitter spot, as it was there he trained for his winning tussles with Harry Wills, Mike McTigue and Jim Maloney.

This Day in Our History

LUTHER BURBANK, noted American naturalist, was born at Lancaster, Mass., on March 7, 1849. He was noted for his experiments on plants and flowers, and horticulture owes much to his experiments in developing new varieties of them.

"Jerry" by ELENORE MEHERIN AUTHOR of "CHICKIE"

A Story of Mad Moonlight Kisses and a Wonderful Young Girl

CHAPTER 33

SHE went over to the mirror and adjusted her hat. Then rubbed a faint tinge of color to the creamy olive skin. She was terribly tanned and leaned on the bureau, dabbing powder on her nose, twisting the hair into jetty curls about her face: "Why am I doing this?"

Ah—in the wild hope of holding him, drawing him back to the flame-sweet eyes whose soul and heart were his. Let him look in them and yearn for them!

She went with thumping, over-charmed heart to the living room where he waited.

"We're going out," said he, springing nearly to his feet, scarcely looking at Jerry.

"Yes. Marza will soon return." She stood hesitant, her head lowered, half expecting him to kiss her.

He didn't. The despair in her spirit grew.

"Let's go over to the reservoir," said he in a quiet, casual tone.

"Oh, no—not there."

A dark flush spread over his cheeks. "As bad as that, is it?"

She shut her eyes, following him mutely. They walked toward Newton.

"Why do you want to make a tragedy of it?" he asked abruptly.

She gave a faint smile. This was the Jim—putting her on the defensive. He always did when they disagreed. She lacked a sense of humor when she grew weary of incessant risque stories; she was a prude if she saw harm in a near-amour with someone else's wife, or danger in a drunken youth driving an automobile.

Usually she won these verbal tiffs. Else she could outboob him. Outgrin and outdimple him.

But now with each moment she felt more crushed and more smaller.

"I'm waiting," he told so bluntly, seeking to keep defensive and waiting to put fir in the wrong. It was love's antithesis—sex.

And now in this reeling quiet a sense of fatality crept up and set between them.

"There's nothing to say," he asked accusingly.

"Oh, millions of words. But words won't alter facts."

"There's none to forgive."

"I was there when and that it were all. For that's such a venial offense compared to other things. The thing that is deadly; that makes it impossible for two persons to go on is the treachery of the spirit. And this is between us."

As time would go slowly into being—only God knew. She was appalled to have it end then.

He grew pale, the kind outdoors-man's pallor—ruddiness . . . her heart's spring—good-by—he knew he could live.

He stood at the door: "Darling thing—am I forgiven? Tomorrow I'll come for a while?"

He went absently through the living room.

At the door of Marza's room she paused, about to call her, she noticed suddenly the drawers opened in the bureau.

It was a small drawer. It opened wide. Jewels were pulled out. They were all empty.

A wave of fear and alarm born of [illegible] Few to [illegible] Marza's closures were gone.

"What facts? Unless you're jumping to conclusions because of naturally right. I don't know why you're making an issue of the whole thing. After all, it was pretty crude the way you all bolted after coming for the week-end. This time was the worst than others."

"John had an order to get through. He couldn't afford to stay in and Build. Time were no bees for all of us. We didn't have leaders we weren't pleased. Phil was pretty satisfied about it."

"You were helping John put through that order were you?" I got drunk for the sake of helping John. The first time you ever saw me drunk. So you run off and ditch me."

"Not I didn't run out on you. I came back and searched all over—ages. Then I saw you going through the garden. I ran after you. I called and called. But you got into the car. You drove off with her. I didn't know where. There seemed nothing for me to do. After all you're a man and free."

"What do you mean by that?"

She said, white and quiet: "Not what you're thinking! I'm not forcing you that I'm through because you chose to go off with Ora Prince. I could forgive a physical infidelity."

"There's none to forgive."

Dr. Dorsey Gives Interesting Facts About Nervous System

Emotional behavior gets its kick from adrenin. With adrenin, cowards may fight for their lives, brave men may surpass themselves, and [illegible] of us can run as we never ran before; or shed tears of sorrow over the loss of friends.

THERE are three divisions of the autonomic nervous system. The upper, or cranial, is concerned with the joys and sorrows of life. Its nerves conserve the body, build up reserves and fortifying the body for times of crises. By narrowing the pupils they shield the eyes from too much light. By slowing the heartbeat they give the heart muscles longer periods for rest. By causing the mouth to water they set the juice flowing and supply digestive [illegible] to the alimentary canal's ceaseless movements. Salient Points of the Bidding

CORRECT BIDDING PROCEDURE WITH LONG SUIT LACKING TOPS

South's holding well illustrates the oft-repeated principle that, lacking high card strength in suit or hand, it will, regardless of its length, should be passed originally and left at all on a later round. North's double of West's original pass bid provided South with the best opportunity to receive the lead fairly well assured now of winning the contract without having exposed partner as to his real strength.

Salient Points of the Play

CARD READING IN DEFENSIVE PLAY

Trick 1. East plays the 10 of Diamonds, apprehensive that the play of the 2 would lead to a shift to Clubs in view of Dummy's Ace Queen-small.

Trick 3. East shifts to Hearts on the probability that his partner has the Ace to justify his original Diamond bid.

Trick 4. West's return of Hearts furnishes the necessary trick to set the contract.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your Bridge problems. Write to him care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope.

HERE'S CHANCE FOR YOU TO DO A KIND DEED

THIS little girl has lost her mother. If you, by chance, are acquainted with the mother, please call the police, the Chamber of Commerce, Wampus, Traveler's Aid or some other public service group. Unfortunately, we do not know the child's name. We don't even know in what city the unhappy incident occurred. We just happened to run across the picture during our home reading, and thought something ought to be done about it.

What Doctors Think of the Laxative Habit

What do YOU do when the bowels need a little assistance? If you clear up the condition with some laxative made with CASCARA, there is nothing better for the system—for the blood.

But if you don't KNOW the laxative you have learned to depend on is of harmless cascara, here's some truly valuable advice:

The bark of a tree called cascara is the most marvelous conditioner mankind has yet found. It stimulates the bowels to regular action, but does NOT weaken. A veteran laxative forms the laxative HABIT. You always need more of the morrow. With cascara, you don't. Its gentle influence carries on sometimes for days. With less and less need of any aid, as time goes on.

So, the very next time you feel sluggish, take only a candy cascaret. Delightful to the taste, sweet and acceptable to any stomach, and just as efficient as the powerful purges that fairly paralyze the peristaltic walls of one's intestines. The only habit you'll get from cascarets is the one of going weeks and months without ANY help of the kind. And when you do invoke their aid again, the same small dose suffices. Any doctor can tell you about cascara; and any druggist has the candy cascarets.

THE SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

DON'T worry about your "sex-appeal."

Unless you have some OTHER appeal, you're only "one of a crowd" in the average man's consciousness, anyway.

The truth is that almost any pretty woman who knows enough to keep her nose powdered, her hair curled, and the seams in her stockings straight, has more or less sex-appeal for almost ANY man.

Dimpled knees and cooing ways don't make a man dizzy any more. They have lost their potency, now that "sex-appeal" is as common as adenoids and as obvious as a gold tooth, and as free as the air at a filling station.

The day I last passed when a woman feared a rival "vamp." The girl that a wife fears nowadays is the bright-eyed, pert-eyed, snappy business girl down at her husband's office, who "understands" him. The girl with whom he ... If Cleopatra wanted to vamp a modern American man she would have to chloroform him, first.

One dimple doesn't stir him any more than another dimple; one lip stick is just as cloying as another lipstick; one permanent wave is no more provocative than another permanent wave. Every woman is gotten up to look like a heart wrecker, these days.

The only way in which one girl can stand out from all the others or make a dent in a man's consciousness, is by finding some OTHER "appeal" than mere animal emotional appeal and playing it to win.

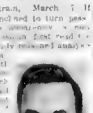
Encouraging Analysis of Conditions and Prospects

By B. C. FORBES

ON the train, March 7. If you are inclined to turn pess[imistic] ... becoming the fashion first read the following carefully and analyze ... of our industrial, political and economic conditions and prospects. I have obtained from President L. J. Horn of the Illinois Central system.



B. C. Forbes

The Illinois Central has extensive and important mileage down through the Middle West, to the Gulf of Mexico. President Howes thus has first-hand information concerning vital sections. As he formerly was president of the Central of Georgia he is especially well equipped to gauge and weigh what is actually going through the south.

President Howes has kindly given the following to my readers:

"A thoughtful survey of business conditions as they bear upon prospects for the future leads to the general conclusions:

"That business, as a whole, notwithstanding admitted irregularities in individual instances, is fundamentally sound.

"That the data upon which appeared to be based the fears in the recent past are contradictory to history.

"That there is no reason to believe that the long swing in general situation is changing.

"That there is no cause for apprehension in other than individual business, as a whole, in the near future.

"One of the most significant developments has been the substantial improvement in the condition of agriculture. The most important element in which a more and more increasingly important part of our country found itself as a result of the overproduction of cotton in 1926 and the consequent collapse of prices has been partly ... Good prices prevailed for the 1927 cotton crop, so that it brought the farmer as a whole return greater than in 1926.

"However, agriculture has made ... gains through good crops ... prices ... have been decreases in the prices of many non-agricultural products. This improvement in agriculture reflected in the upward trend of industrial sales and a heightened demand for farm implements and machinery. As time goes on, the effects should have a stimulating and heartening influence upon the whole fabric of business.

"The great progress the South has made in its diversification of crops of agriculture, but of all other activity, is important ... Cotton still the chief farm crop in many parts, but from year to year it is ... ishing smaller and smaller part of the South's total income. The development of mining, manufacturing and industry in general, and the substantial progress made in diversified cropping, dairy farming and fruit and vegetable culture, have helped to place the South on a broad and stable economic foundation.

"Another encouraging factor is that the volume of our foreign commerce has been growing faster than that of the rest of the world. With economic conditions throughout the world showing steady improvement, our foreign commerce should continue to expand.

"Encouragement is also found in the fact that the railroads are providing the American public with ... speedier, more reliable and, relatively speaking, the cheapest freight and passenger service in their history.

"Other factors which indicate America's fundamentally sound condition at present are the ... relations which generally prevail between men and management, the employment of labor at ... is relatively the highest wage scale on record, the ability ... of finance business undertakings of demonstrable merit, and the large volume of construction under way and in prospect.

A United States court decides that under the old Jay treaty of 1794 Canadians can cross the border into the United States as often as they choose with no immigration restrictions.

Thus our Canadian neighbors can drink beer on Canadian territory, and earn dollars on United States territory. That will madden some 100 per cent Americans, but they also can cross the border to drink beer. That may comfort them.

"Girl dies from alcoholism at drinking party." She was only 20. Strangest sort of alcoholic poisoning." It is such a common thing under prohibition that you don't even ask the girl's name. Whiskey killed her suddenly. It is killing thousands of others more slowly. Something ought to be done about bootleg whiskey.

In Oregon some cattle were butchered, and yellow spots in their teeth were found to be pure gold. They had never seen a dentist. The question is, did they scrape their teeth against gold in their pasture, or do they represent the ingenious idea of some "realtor," anxious to sell a farm.

SCHENCK GOES TO MAKE FILMS IN ENGLAND

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Los Angeles, March 7.

JOSEPH SCHENCK is not the type that sits quietly by while the world moves on. England is demanding English-made pictures. Presto change! Joseph Schenck is on with a "catch-as-catch-can" attack that right away. Rex Ingram, who has already declared himself mighty in favor of living abroad, will produce "Three Passions," by Cosmo Hamilton, for United Artists in England.

This will not be one of those foreign pictures, made hither and yon with a "catch as you can" atmosphere. Mr. Schenck is determined that England will be done as well by as that United States. He has engaged a studio at Elstree, a suburb of London. This choice was made because this particular spot is said to be as immune from fog as any part of England.

Mrs. Rex Ingram (Alice Terry) will be the star. Let's hope that Miss Terry wears her second wind and goes on a rigid diet. She was far, far too fat in her last picture. But, as Mr. Schenck himself says, these young girls are fat one day and thin the next. A little diet will work wonders. Ivan Petrovich, admired by the American public, will play opposite Miss Terry.

There is a rumor around Hollywood that no more contracts are being signed. I don't believe that is true. I believe that contracts will be signed as long as there are motion pictures. Probably there won't be as many contract players, but there will be room for whom there is a demand will always be invited to put their names to an agreement.

Buster Collier is one of these. Only yesterday he agreed to make three pictures for Warner Brothers this coming year. Conrad Nagel, who was to have played opposite May McAvoy in "Ladies Prefer Bonds," will be busy at home—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer—so Buster's first assignment will be to make love to May McAvoy in this picture. This shouldn't be hard to do, especially now, for May never looked so well in her life. I like her hair, which is a lighter gold than it was last year.

The busy camera in "Polly Preferred" works overtime to get some glimpses of real movie life. Marion Davies is now in the midst of picture actress and one of the most interesting features of the picture is the inside stuff of studios. For instance, Jack Gilbert is as important a star in "Polly Preferred" as he is in real life. So is Charlie Chaplin. The camera shows them as they are. Included in this panorama of movie stars at work play are George K. Arthur, Aileen Pringle, Greta Garbo, Renee Adoree and Eleanor Boardman. Some of these players who happens to be making a picture will be shown in all the glory of makeup and costume.

Not a bad idea for the players, or for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is it?

"Tempest" will have a personal escort to New York. John Considine, Jr., who has spent every waking hour with "Tempest" since the first day of production, will take a print of the film to New York where it will be introduced to Broadway in one of the large legitimate theatres. I must necessarily be vague about this because three different houses are under consideration and as yet none of them is under contract.

LILY LANGTRY AFTER DIVORCE

quirers the late King Edward and Gladstone.

Only recently, the friendship between the gorgeous stateswoman and talented actress was the subject of a sensational incident in the English courts, following that incident, Lady De Bathe said to the press:

"Anyone repeating such malicious gossip about myself and Gladstone deserves to be horsewhipped in public."

Conjectures are being freely made as to the full object of Sir Hugo's matrimonial adventure, his assiduous presence at the magnificent wild West show of Buffalo Bill and his courtly and persistent attentions to their daughter indicating that it is all the dainty feet of the charming Meroud Guiness that Sir Hugo is laying at His.

Meroud Guiness is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Guiness, formerly of Washington sq., but now at Belgravia, London. The Guinesses are among the most popular of the Anglo-American hosts.

Benjmin Guiness is a member of the Wall Street firm of Lounsburg, Thalman & Co. and is heavily interested in the development of Cuba, where he has important holdings.

Mrs. Guiness is famed as one of the most charming hostesses. Her drawing room was a meeting place for the characteristic personalities of her time. The Guiness home on Washington sq. vied with the salon of the handsome Mrs. Phil Lydig for the charm and brilliancy of its homes. Meroud was one of Father Knickerbocker's youngest debs.

Last season, in London, Mrs. Guiness gave several brilliant costume balls. Meroud's was especially noted by the Prince of Wales, who danced with her several times.

600 HUNGARIANS ON WAY TO U. S. FOR UNVEILING

Paris, March 7 (INS)—Six hundred Hungarians passed through Paris today enroute for New York to attend the unveiling of a statue of Louis Kossuth, Hungarian patriot. Dr. Eugene Spisock, mayor of Budapest, said the monarchist sentiment is still strong in Hungary, but added his official position would not permit him to predict restoration of the throne.

'HAMMER' GIRL IN OWN STORY OF SLAYING

ly. We had quarrelled. He struck me. I picked up the claw hammer and hit him on the head, again and again. Finally he lay quiet.

Q.—What was the quarrel about?

A.—About my girl friend, Mabel Young.

It was to the home of Miss Young, a pretty 24-year-old stenographer in Cleveland, that Velma dashed in her green roadster immediately after the crime. Her husband, Velma said, had been receiving letters which he had received from Mabel and they had quarreled about them. Velma said Mabel was her "dearest girl chum—I loved her as a sister."

Q.—What were your feelings after you had killed your husband and were motoring to Mabel's bridge party?

A.—I was frightened. I drove furiously. My mind was in a whirl.

Q.—Is a fact that you were "the life of the party" that night?

A.—No. I was as nervous as could be. I did play and sing at the party because the girls who were present insisted that I should.

Q.—Does your conscience now trouble you?

A.—Only because I regret having done it. I think of it all the time. I can hardly sleep some nights. I have nightmares.

Velma said she did not want to talk about Mabel Young because the newspaper stories would "drag her fair name through the mire." She was handed a four-page typewritten statement made to the sheriff by Miss Young. Velma read it carefully, asked how much of it was true, she replied:

"Only part of it."

Equal Blame

She then showed a touch of bitterness toward Mabel, saying: "Why should I get so much blame, rather than her? She would do the same toward me as I was toward her. She wrote me letters as bad as I wrote to her. I don't see why she should get out of it."

Velma said the reason she liked Mabel was because "she was older than I was and she was pleasant and quiet. I used to get quite lone some for her."

Asked to comment on the ultra-bobbed hair of today, she thought for a while and replied:

"The present jazz age is all wrong. Too many girls are living too fast a life. They do too much drinking and petting. I will admit I've spooned a bit with the boys but it's not the thing to do."

Requested to give a warning to young girls today, in connection with life, she said:

"I would tell them: Be sure and marry the right kind of a man. Life with the wrong kind of a man can be a torture.

Try for Job

"I hope when I get to the Maryville Reformatory that I will be put among the most unfortunate of prisoners," she said. "I'd like to get an outdoor job at Maryville. My lawyers tell me they need a woman to drive a light delivery truck and I'm going to try for that job."

She's always had a liking for banjo ukulele along. She wondered if they would take her gray fur coat away from her and make her wear blue denim instead of the black kneelength dress she now wears today by request.

"Do you think you'll spend all your life in prison?" she was asked.

"No, I think I'll get out in about eight years. At least that's what my lawyers think. I'm not worrying about that, though. I have committed a crime and I think I should be punished. If I could, I would not take back the crime today because I don't believe it would be right."

"Will you marry again?"

"I never will," she declared emphatically.

TRAVESTY ON "BAT" PLAYING AT OLYMPIA

Whether or not you have seen "The Bat," which was the leader in the rapid fire succession of mystery plays, it is easily possible to understand "Batty."

The hilarious travesty on "The Bat" now at the Washington St. Olympia.

Marietta Craig, who played the title role in "Lizzie" in "The Bat" and per-

Marietta Craig

sonated the cleverest comedienne in vaudeville, plays the leading part in this little playlet. Miss Craig turned her talents to good advantage with the end of the tour of "The Bat" and she wrote this clever travesty while she was "resting."

Carrying her own electricians and carpenters with her not, and using an auxiliary switchboard as well as the regular stage board, along with many lighting and noise effects, Miss Craig makes "Batty" one of the best acts seen on the Olympia stage this year.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional sessions, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defence.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

Boston's Air Mail

How It Grows . . .

How the air mail has grown in popularity in New England is shown by a figure or two:

Average daily load out of Boston: December, 1926, 13 pounds; December, 1927, 59 pounds.

Total poundage for the month: December, 1926, 319; December, 1927, 1,180.

But "although these figures show a gratifying increase," the weekly journal of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts reminds us, there is room for improvement. Why is there not MORE business for the air mail? The explanation offered by "Industry" is that:

"Many industries do not avail themselves of the splendid service afforded by our air lines chiefly because it has not been brought home to them that it is a 'REGULAR, DEPENDABLE service."

As regular as train service, a plane bound west leaves the Boston Airport at 6:15 o'clock every evening in the week except Sunday. The service is operated in all weathers and at all seasons.

At 11 o'clock the next forenoon, a mail plane will be leaving New York for the West. Letters for San Francisco reach there at 4:30 p. m. on the NEXT day. Air-mail's time-saving to the Coast is approximately 40 hours, to Dallas 38 hours, to Chicago 13 hours. The postage rate is 10 cents the half-ounce, from Boston TO ANY PART OF THE COUNTRY.

The air mail, let it be remembered, gave us Lindbergh. It has been, is and will continue to be our largest training school for flyers. Governor Weeks of Vermont has said something about their value in time of peace; NO ONE knows what they may mean to us when and if we are again drawn into a world war.

The Lady He Married. The Ideas That Govern Him

SIGNORA MUSSOLINI, WIFE OF THE ITALIAN RULER

This is the wife of the great Italian dictator. She appears rarely in the newspapers. You may not have seen her picture before.

She is rarely seen on public occasions in Rome, devoting herself to her children, of whom the youngest is a mere baby, the oldest taller than she is.

This lady, if her husband willed it, probably could be Queen of Italy, as by the power of Napoleon Josephine became Empress of France.

But Mussolini's idea, which will be shown in quotations farther on, is to maintain and build Italy, from her royal family under established government to the humblest shepherd in the high mountains.

The following quotations, words from Mussolini's own mouth, give an idea of his view of life, his plans for Italy, and his theories concerning the government of human beings for their own good, and if necessary, in SPITE of themselves.

Mussolini was addressing a great army of his black shirt Fascists. Mussolini said:

"Who are the masters of Italy?" (Loud shouts) "We!" "Who owns Rome?" (More shouts) "We!" "Who is ready to die for his country?" (Loud and unanimous response) "We!" "Lift your caps, then, and cry with me, 'Long live the King! Long live Italy! Long live Fascism!'"

Mussolini continued his talk in part as follows:

"If you say to me, 'You wish to remain in power at any cost,' I answer that it is not true.

"We control the nation not in order to enslave it, but to serve it, with humility, with absolute devotion and with a sense of duty that I would describe as religious.

"Violence for us is not sport. It is not, nor can it ever become, a diversion. For us violence is, like war, the hard necessity of certain fated and historic hours.

"Men who are herded together in modern cities and nations must of necessity suffer a curtailment of liberty, not excepting that of movement. The concept of absolute liberty is an arbitrary one. It has no existence in reality.

"I respect the horny hands of toil. They are a title of nobility. The country of which we dream is one in which all will work and no parasites shall exist.

"Believe me, I am not drunk with greatness. I would like, if it were possible, to be drunk with humility.

"My ambition is a single one. It matters not, therefore, whether I work fourteen or sixteen hours a day. Nor would it matter if I lost my life, and I should not consider it a greater sacrifice than is due. My ambition is

A New Yorker's Europe

by O. O. McINTYRE

PARIS, March 7.—The change in time somehow or other makes most Americans awaken before daylight for a week or so, but there is pleasant compensation for this annoyance in seeing Paris swim up from its sluggish well of sleep. It leaps to life like a trout to the fly.

The low hung clouds change swiftly from blue to yellow to heliotrope and then to that pale pink glow that has inspired innumerable enraptured poets. Wisps of smoke curl from a million chimney pots bristling on the roof tops. Ponderous doors open with a thunder of bangs. Shop shutters are lifted with a clatter.

Bread boys hurl yard-long loaves to the pavements from tricycle wagons. Early workers seem to be whistling, and the sidewalk trees are alive with chirping birds. Cathedral bells ring the clear call to early worship. Lawn comes like frosty starlight. And the east is slashed with fire.

The town bubbles in the early morning as though it might be an unquenched spring of gaiety—coltish and a bit untidy, but contagiously stimulating. You feel an eagerness to do something foolish—like turning a handspring in Place Vendome or playing tag with a gendarme.

From my window is a medley of impressions. A priest in one of those pancake flat derbies bicycles by with his robe ends straight out in the breeze. A black-aproned wine waiter is placing blue seltzer bottles on the sidewalk tables. An old woman whose back is bent with a load of firewood trudges along.

A glazier with his shoulder pack of glass, rings a dinner bell to announce his presence. Perky midinettes are delivering packages from millinery and dressmaking establishments. Coal and wood carts with belled horses driven tandem. A swarthy man in a turban. Men who wear black gloves and white vest edging.

Near my hotel at intervals there is a rising hum of shouting that reaches a din. It comes from school children unloosed for recess play. It is typical of the Parisian zest for frolic. And it seems to be just as unrestrained among the elders. Life is a big whoop in the morning, and it is only at night when it is shuttered and barred that Paris seems brooding and sad.

ADD similes: As futile as the effort of an American to open a French window.

AT a quaint luncheon place today there was an example of French unwillingness to change customs. When the place opened nineteen years ago it had twenty-one delighted patrons. Today the proprietor will never serve more than twenty-one. Bribery or coajolery is useless. The method is first come, first served, and there is double the favored number turned away. One is not permitted to order, but must take what is served, and this proves a constant surprise. To the French, the cocktail has always been anathema, although it is served in most places, but not here. The customary white wine is served with fish and red with meat, but only a single glass to each. You cannot buy or beg more. You are elegantly fed, but you are given the impression the proprietor is condescending to serve you.

THE Paris of great value at low prices is no more. Clothes for men and women are about as expensive as in New York, and custom duty makes them a luxury. The tariff at first-class hotels is the same as in New York, plus the various taxes, and the laughable 10 per cent exacted for tipping. The only thing remaining cheap is taxi fare and the impertinence you suffer at the hands of the drivers does not compensate for the cheapness. The shops are empty although general financial conditions in France are good.

IT WAS interesting to watch what is comparable to our city salesman call on the proprietor of a barber shop. He shook hands all around, discussed family matters with each, offered cigarettes, told a story or so and I rather expected them to snap into a waltz. Finally he touched upon the need of barber supplies, and finding no need, shook hands all around again and departed. A good time was had by all.

this—to make the Italian people strong, prosperous, great, and free.

"There can never be for us as individuals the certainty of the morrow, but there is the supreme and magnificent certainty of the morrow for us as a nation and a people.

"Mussolini and Fascism are two aspects of the same thing, are two bodies and one soul or two souls in a single body.

"My father was blacksmith and I have worked with him. He bent iron; mine is the harder task of bending souls.

"Violence is not immoral. On the contrary, it is sometimes moral.

"What constitutes the State? The police. All your codes, all your doctrines, your ordinances are as naught if at a given moment the police by sheer physical force does not make felt the inescapable weight of law.

"We must have the courage to say that Italy cannot remain forever penned up in one sea, even if it is the Adriatic. Beyond the Adriatic there is the Mediterranean and other seas which can interest us.

"The Colosseum and the Forum are glories of the past, but we must build up the glories of today and tomorrow.

"And why these soldiers? To show that the Government has strength. I declare that, if possible, I wish to govern with the consent of the majority of the people, but while waiting for this consent to be formed, to be nourished, to be strengthened, I collect the maximum available force.

"Imperialism is at the base of the life of every people which desires economic and spiritual expansion.

"I do not intend that national discipline shall be any longer merely a name. I do not intend that the law shall be a scourge or a blunt weapon. I do not intend that liberty shall degenerate into license.

"We deny internationalism because it is a luxury which only the upper classes can afford. The working people are hopelessly bound to their native shore.

"You can rest assured that in this Italy the workman—and all work, both of the brain and of the hands—will take, as its right, the first place.

"Still, as ever, the Roman Empire is a creator of the spirit, as it was the spirit which first inspired the Roman legions to fight.

"May God help me to carry my arduous task to a victorious end."

The man who talks as Mussolini talks, and who by actual deeds and powerful government lives up to his talking, is a man of power and one with whom the whole world must reckon seriously.

STATISTICS GOOD TO A CERTAIN POINT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A WISCONSIN professor is out with the prediction that pretty soon this old world will be over-populated.

There will be standing room only and not near enough food to go around.

This he figures out by statistics of the rate of progress in human fecundity.

This alarm is not new. Some years ago a man by the name of Malthus announced some such law and declared that unless something was done pretty soon there would be too many people on earth.

Henry George and others neatly punctured the Malthusian theory. Nothing like what Malthus predicted took place, for facts have a way of upsetting theories.

The trouble is that statistics are valuable only up to a certain point. At that point the law of diminishing returns begins to operate.

The Medici, the Fuggers and others were very rich men in their day. All you have to do is to take a pencil and paper and figure out how their fortunes should have increased. By this time they should have owned the whole planet and several adjoining stars. The only trouble was they didn't. Something happened.

Riches can only accumulate up to a certain point. Then they begin to dissolve in one way or another.

In the same way, if the laws of health permit a man to live seventy years, why shouldn't he live one hundred and seventy?

The only trouble is he doesn't. Somewhere the law of diminishing returns begins to operate.

It is like the man who taught his horse to eat shavings by putting green goggles on him. It worked all right. The only trouble was that about the time he learned to eat shavings he had to die and spoil the experiment.

Somewhere and somehow Mr. Professor's statistics are going to bump into the law of diminishing returns.

Whatever we are, nature has secret ways of taking care of herself.

Will some juggler of statistics or some learned professor please tell us how it happens that about so many men and so many women are born each year, how the ratio of the sexes keeps about the same, and tell us why the enormous destruction of war does not seem to alter the ratio?

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

ARE you discouraged today?

Do you feel that life is petty and futile and that you don't count in the scheme of things?

Be still and think.

Think back over the long years, over all the lives that have labored to produce you.

Think forward to all the years and the lives that are to come—the years and the lives upon which every least act of your life will leave its certain impress.

You are really the "heir of the ages."

All that men have done is built into your spirit. All that men have made has contributed to your life.

You could not walk upright today, without dragging your hands or slobbering over your jaw, if men had not come down from trees and crept out of caves and suffered terribly to learn the trick of uprightness.

You could not face danger if men had not had the hearts torn out of their bodies to learn courage.

You could not pat your dog on the head or play with your baby or caress your old mother or be true to your wife if men had not learned, with tremendous effort and pain, to be kind and tender and loyal and honest.

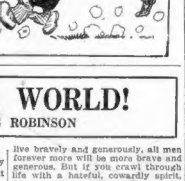
You could not read or add or cast your vote or walk on roads or breathe a free air if countless men had not struggled and sacrificed, labored and fought and died to give you knowledge and liberty and civilization.

Millions and millions of men wore out their bodies in difficult experiments to give you your body. Millions and millions of men sweated and prayed that a song might be planted in your heart and a dream in your brain.

You, as you stand today, are the fruit of man's achievement. And what others have done or failed to do for you, you are doing or failing to do for those who are to come.

Every thought, every word, every act or neglect of your life will leave its impress on the future. If you live bravely and generously, all men forever more will be more brave and generous. But if you crawl through life with a hateful, cowardly spirit, life hereafter will be more hateful and cowardly for other men.

NEITHER YOUR BODY NOR YOUR LIFE WILL EVER PASS FROM THIS WORLD. IN A VERY REAL WAY THEY WILL BOTH BE IMMORTAL. OTHER BODIES WILL BE BUILT FROM



YOUR BODY. OTHER CHARACTERS WILL BE BUILT FROM YOUR CHARACTER.

This very mood of discouragement, which now binds you, will leave its mark on life. Already you have discouraged someone else. Already you have failed to do some strong, heartening act which you should have done—which needed to be done.

Walt Whitman once wrote a grand line which will be like a staff to you if you will make it your own. Here it is—

"I AM AN ACME OF THINGS ACCOMPLISHED, AND I AM ENCLOSER OF THINGS TO BE."

Say that over and over to yourself. Say it proudly, with increasing fire. THEN LIVE IT.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

The world is too much with us; late and soon.
Getting and spending we lay waste our powers;
Little we see in Nature that is ours.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By Leola Allard

ANNOUNCEMENT is made that one out of every six automobiles is driven by a woman.

But that estimate is made on front seat driving.

The Bishop of Ely and the Viscount Lascelles of London are committing poetry against the short skirt. How can anything that incites a bishop or a viscount to make jokes be wrong? The bishop says: "So many women cannot afford to be so candid about their ankles."

Bishops should look up, and viscounts should look out. Then the length of skirts will not trouble them.

Trustees for the estate of Peter Cooper Hewitt of New York are trying to teach his widow to speak Scotch. It is a very difficult language for an extravagant widow with $11,000,000. Those who speak it fluently are born Scotch!

A woman who attended New York's strange nine-act play, which lasts from 8 till 11 p. m., reports that between acts toward midnight men were beginning to talk about needing shaves and women about going out to get their faces lifted.

SCHENCK GOES TO MAKE FILMS IN ENGLAND

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Los Angeles, March 7.

JOSEPH SCHENCK is not the type that sits quietly by while the world moves on. England is demanding English-made pictures. Presto change! Joseph Schenck is on with a "catch-as-catch-can" attack that right away. Rex Ingram, who has already declared himself mighty in favor of living abroad, will produce "Three Passions," by Cosmo Hamilton, for United Artists in England.

This will not be one of those foreign pictures, made hither and yon with a "catch as you can" atmosphere. Mr. Schenck is determined that England will be done as well by as that United States. He has engaged a studio at Elstree, a suburb of London. This choice was made because this particular spot is said to be as immune from fog as any part of England.

Mrs. Rex Ingram (Alice Terry) will be the star. Let's hope that Miss Terry wears her second wind and goes on a rigid diet. She was far, far too fat in her last picture. But, as Mr. Schenck himself says, these young girls are fat one day and thin the next. A little diet will work wonders. Ivan Petrovich, admired by the American public, will play opposite Miss Terry.

There is a rumor around Hollywood that no more contracts are being signed. I don't believe that is true. I believe that contracts will be signed as long as there are motion pictures. Probably there won't be as many contract players, but there will be room for whom there is a demand will always be invited to put their names to an agreement.

Buster Collier is one of these. Only yesterday he agreed to make three pictures for Warner Brothers this coming year. Conrad Nagel, who was to have played opposite May McAvoy in "Ladies Prefer Bonds," will be busy at home—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer—so Buster's first assignment will be to make love to May McAvoy in this picture. This shouldn't be hard to do, especially now, for May never looked so well in her life. I like her hair, which is a lighter gold than it was last year.

The busy camera in "Polly Preferred" works overtime to get some glimpses of real movie life. Marion Davies is now in the midst of picture actress and one of the most interesting features of the picture is the inside stuff of studios. For instance, Jack Gilbert is as important a star in "Polly Preferred" as he is in real life. So is Charlie Chaplin. The camera shows them as they are. Included in this panorama of movie stars at work play are George K. Arthur, Aileen Pringle, Greta Garbo, Renee Adoree and Eleanor Boardman. Some of these players who happens to be making a picture will be shown in all the glory of makeup and costume.

Not a bad idea for the players, or for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is it?

"Tempest" will have a personal escort to New York. John Considine, Jr., who has spent every waking hour with "Tempest" since the first day of production, will take a print of the film to New York where it will be introduced to Broadway in one of the large legitimate theatres. I must necessarily be vague about this because three different houses are under consideration and as yet none of them is under contract.

quirers the late King Edward and Gladstone.

Only recently, the friendship between the gorgeous stateswoman and talented actress was the subject of a sensational incident in the English courts, following that incident, Lady De Bathe said to the press:

"Anyone repeating such malicious gossip about myself and Gladstone deserves to be horsewhipped in public."

Conjectures are being freely made as to the full object of Sir Hugo's matrimonial adventure, his assiduous presence at the magnificent wild West show of Buffalo Bill and his courtly and persistent attentions to their daughter indicating that it is all the dainty feet of the charming Meroud Guiness that Sir Hugo is laying at His.

Meroud Guiness is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Guiness, formerly of Washington sq., but now at Belgravia, London. The Guinesses are among the most popular of the Anglo-American hosts.

Benjmin Guiness is a member of the Wall Street firm of Lounsburg, Thalman & Co. and is heavily interested in the development of Cuba, where he has important holdings.

Mrs. Guiness is famed as one of the most charming hostesses. Her drawing room was a meeting place for the characteristic personalities of her time. The Guiness home on Washington sq. vied with the salon of the handsome Mrs. Phil Lydig for the charm and brilliancy of its homes. Meroud was one of Father Knickerbocker's youngest debs.

Last season, in London, Mrs. Guiness gave several brilliant costume balls. Meroud's was especially noted by the Prince of Wales, who danced with her several times.

600 HUNGARIANS ON WAY TO U. S. FOR UNVEILING

Paris, March 7 (INS)—Six hundred Hungarians passed through Paris today enroute for New York to attend the unveiling of a statue of Louis Kossuth, Hungarian patriot. Dr. Eugene Spisock, mayor of Budapest, said the monarchist sentiment is still strong in Hungary, but added his official position would not permit him to predict restoration of the throne.

'HAMMER' GIRL IN OWN STORY OF SLAYING

ly. We had quarrelled. He struck me. I picked up the claw hammer and hit him on the head, again and again. Finally he lay quiet.

Q.—What was the quarrel about?

A.—About my girl friend, Mabel Young.

It was to the home of Miss Young, a pretty 24-year-old stenographer in Cleveland, that Velma dashed in her green roadster immediately after the crime. Her husband, Velma said, had been receiving letters which he had received from Mabel and they had quarreled about them. Velma said Mabel was her "dearest girl chum—I loved her as a sister."

Q.—What were your feelings after you had killed your husband and were motoring to Mabel's bridge party?

A.—I was frightened. I drove furiously. My mind was in a whirl.

Q.—Is a fact that you were "the life of the party" that night?

A.—No. I was as nervous as could be. I did play and sing at the party because the girls who were present insisted that I should.

Q.—Does your conscience now trouble you?

A.—Only because I regret having done it. I think of it all the time. I can hardly sleep some nights. I have nightmares.

Velma said she did not want to talk about Mabel Young because the newspaper stories would "drag her fair name through the mire." She was handed a four-page typewritten statement made to the sheriff by Miss Young. Velma read it carefully, asked how much of it was true, she replied:

"Only part of it."

Equal Blame

She then showed a touch of bitterness toward Mabel, saying: "Why should I get so much blame, rather than her? She would do the same toward me as I was toward her. She wrote me letters as bad as I wrote to her. I don't see why she should get out of it."

Velma said the reason she liked Mabel was because "she was older than I was and she was pleasant and quiet. I used to get quite lone some for her."

Asked to comment on the ultra-bobbed hair of today, she thought for a while and replied:

"The present jazz age is all wrong. Too many girls are living too fast a life. They do too much drinking and petting. I will admit I've spooned a bit with the boys but it's not the thing to do."

Requested to give a warning to young girls today, in connection with life, she said:

"I would tell them: Be sure and marry the right kind of a man. Life with the wrong kind of a man can be a torture.

Try for Job

"I hope when I get to the Maryville Reformatory that I will be put among the most unfortunate of prisoners," she said. "I'd like to get an outdoor job at Maryville. My lawyers tell me they need a woman to drive a light delivery truck and I'm going to try for that job."

She's always had a liking for banjo ukulele along. She wondered if they would take her gray fur coat away from her and make her wear blue denim instead of the black kneelength dress she now wears today by request.

"Do you think you'll spend all your life in prison?" she was asked.

"No, I think I'll get out in about eight years. At least that's what my lawyers think. I'm not worrying about that, though. I have committed a crime and I think I should be punished. If I could, I would not take back the crime today because I don't believe it would be right."

"Will you marry again?"

"I never will," she declared emphatically.

TRAVESTY ON "BAT" PLAYING AT OLYMPIA

Whether or not you have seen "The Bat," which was the leader in the rapid fire succession of mystery plays, it is easily possible to understand "Batty."

sonated the cleverest comedienne in vaudeville, plays the leading part in this little playlet. Miss Craig turned her talents to good advantage with the end of the tour of "The Bat" and she wrote this clever travesty while she was "resting."

Carrying her own electricians and carpenters with her not, and using an auxiliary switchboard as well as the regular stage board, along with many lighting and noise effects, Miss Craig makes "Batty" one of the best acts seen on the Olympia stage this year.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE ☆ ☆ BOSTON SUNDAY EVENING AMERICAN ☆ ☆ BOSTON, MARCH 7, 1928

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional sessions, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defence.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

Boston's Air Mail

How It Grows . . .

How the air mail has grown in popularity in New England is shown by a figure or two:

Average daily load out of Boston: December, 1926, 13 pounds; December, 1927, 59 pounds.

Total poundage for the month: December, 1926, 319; December, 1927, 1,180.

But "although these figures show a gratifying increase," the weekly journal of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts reminds us, there is room for improvement. Why is there not MORE business for the air mail? The explanation offered by "Industry" is that:

"Many industries do not avail themselves of the splendid service afforded by our air lines chiefly because it has not been brought home to them that it is a 'REGULAR, DEPENDABLE service."

As regular as train service, a plane bound west leaves the Boston Airport at 6:15 o'clock every evening in the week except Sunday. The service is operated in all weathers and at all seasons.

At 11 o'clock the next forenoon, a mail plane will be leaving New York for the West. Letters for San Francisco reach there at 4:30 p. m. on the NEXT day. Air-mail's time-saving to the Coast is approximately 40 hours, to Dallas 38 hours, to Chicago 13 hours. The postage rate is 10 cents the half-ounce, from Boston TO ANY PART OF THE COUNTRY.

The air mail, let it be remembered, gave us Lindbergh. It has been, is and will continue to be our largest training school for flyers. Governor Weeks of Vermont has said something about their value in time of peace; NO ONE knows what they may mean to us when and if we are again drawn into a world war.

Again Benito Mussolini

The Lady He Married. The Ideas That Govern Him

SIGNORA MUSSOLINI, WIFE OF THE ITALIAN RULER

This is the wife of the great Italian dictator. She appears rarely in the newspapers. You may not have seen her picture before.

She is rarely seen on public occasions in Rome, devoting herself to her children, of whom the youngest is a mere baby, the oldest taller than she is.

This lady, if her husband willed it, probably could be Queen of Italy, as by the power of Napoleon Josephine became Empress of France.

But Mussolini's idea, which will be shown in quotations farther on, is to maintain and build Italy, from her royal family under established government to the humblest shepherd in the high mountains.

The following quotations, words from Mussolini's own mouth, give an idea of his view of life, his plans for Italy, and his theories concerning the government of human beings for their own good, and if necessary, in SPITE of themselves.

Mussolini was addressing a great army of his black shirt Fascists. Mussolini said:

"Who are the masters of Italy?" (Loud shouts) "We!" "Who owns Rome?" (More shouts) "We!" "Who is ready to die for his country?" (Loud and unanimous response) "We!" "Lift your caps, then, and cry with me, 'Long live the King! Long live Italy! Long live Fascism!'"

Mussolini continued his talk in part as follows:

"If you say to me, 'You wish to remain in power at any cost,' I answer that it is not true.

"We control the nation not in order to enslave it, but to serve it, with humility, with absolute devotion and with a sense of duty that I would describe as religious.

"Violence for us is not sport. It is not, nor can it ever become, a diversion. For us violence is, like war, the hard necessity of certain fated and historic hours.

"Men who are herded together in modern cities and nations must of necessity suffer a curtailment of liberty, not excepting that of movement. The concept of absolute liberty is an arbitrary one. It has no existence in reality.

"I respect the horny hands of toil. They are a title of nobility. The country of which we dream is one in which all will work and no parasites shall exist.

"Believe me, I am not drunk with greatness. I would like, if it were possible, to be drunk with humility.

"My ambition is a single one. It matters not, therefore, whether I work fourteen or sixteen hours a day. Nor would it matter if I lost my life, and I should not consider it a greater sacrifice than is due. My ambition is

A New Yorker's Europe

by O. O. McINTYRE

PARIS, March 7.—The change in time somehow or other makes most Americans awaken before daylight for a week or so, but there is pleasant compensation for this annoyance in seeing Paris swim up from its sluggish well of sleep. It leaps to life like a trout to the fly.

The low hung clouds change swiftly from blue to yellow to heliotrope and then to that pale pink glow that has inspired innumerable enraptured poets. Wisps of smoke curl from a million chimney pots bristling on the roof tops. Ponderous doors open with a thunder of bangs. Shop shutters are lifted with a clatter.

Bread boys hurl yard-long loaves to the pavements from tricycle wagons. Early workers seem to be whistling, and the sidewalk trees are alive with chirping birds. Cathedral bells ring the clear call to early worship. Lawn comes like frosty starlight. And the east is slashed with fire.

The town bubbles in the early morning as though it might be an unquenched spring of gaiety—coltish and a bit untidy, but contagiously stimulating. You feel an eagerness to do something foolish—like turning a handspring in Place Vendome or playing tag with a gendarme.

From my window is a medley of impressions. A priest in one of those pancake flat derbies bicycles by with his robe ends straight out in the breeze. A black-aproned wine waiter is placing blue seltzer bottles on the sidewalk tables. An old woman whose back is bent with a load of firewood trudges along.

A glazier with his shoulder pack of glass, rings a dinner bell to announce his presence. Perky midinettes are delivering packages from millinery and dressmaking establishments. Coal and wood carts with belled horses driven tandem. A swarthy man in a turban. Men who wear black gloves and white vest edging.

Near my hotel at intervals there is a rising hum of shouting that reaches a din. It comes from school children unloosed for recess play. It is typical of the Parisian zest for frolic. And it seems to be just as unrestrained among the elders. Life is a big whoop in the morning, and it is only at night when it is shuttered and barred that Paris seems brooding and sad.

ADD similes: As futile as the effort of an American to open a French window.

AT a quaint luncheon place today there was an example of French unwillingness to change customs. When the place opened nineteen years ago it had twenty-one delighted patrons. Today the proprietor will never serve more than twenty-one. Bribery or coajolery is useless. The method is first come, first served, and there is double the favored number turned away. One is not permitted to order, but must take what is served, and this proves a constant surprise. To the French, the cocktail has always been anathema, although it is served in most places, but not here. The customary white wine is served with fish and red with meat, but only a single glass to each. You cannot buy or beg more. You are elegantly fed, but you are given the impression the proprietor is condescending to serve you.

THE Paris of great value at low prices is no more. Clothes for men and women are about as expensive as in New York, and custom duty makes them a luxury. The tariff at first-class hotels is the same as in New York, plus the various taxes, and the laughable 10 per cent exacted for tipping. The only thing remaining cheap is taxi fare and the impertinence you suffer at the hands of the drivers does not compensate for the cheapness. The shops are empty although general financial conditions in France are good.

IT WAS interesting to watch what is comparable to our city salesman call on the proprietor of a barber shop. He shook hands all around, discussed family matters with each, offered cigarettes, told a story or so and I rather expected them to snap into a waltz. Finally he touched upon the need of barber supplies, and finding no need, shook hands all around again and departed. A good time was had by all.

Again Benito Mussolini

this—to make the Italian people strong, prosperous, great, and free.

"There can never be for us as individuals the certainty of the morrow, but there is the supreme and magnificent certainty of the morrow for us as a nation and a people.

"Mussolini and Fascism are two aspects of the same thing, are two bodies and one soul or two souls in a single body.

"My father was blacksmith and I have worked with him. He bent iron; mine is the harder task of bending souls.

"Violence is not immoral. On the contrary, it is sometimes moral.

"What constitutes the State? The police. All your codes, all your doctrines, your ordinances are as naught if at a given moment the police by sheer physical force does not make felt the inescapable weight of law.

"We must have the courage to say that Italy cannot remain forever penned up in one sea, even if it is the Adriatic. Beyond the Adriatic there is the Mediterranean and other seas which can interest us.

"The Colosseum and the Forum are glories of the past, but we must build up the glories of today and tomorrow.

"And why these soldiers? To show that the Government has strength. I declare that, if possible, I wish to govern with the consent of the majority of the people, but while waiting for this consent to be formed, to be nourished, to be strengthened, I collect the maximum available force.

"Imperialism is at the base of the life of every people which desires economic and spiritual expansion.

"I do not intend that national discipline shall be any longer merely a name. I do not intend that the law shall be a scourge or a blunt weapon. I do not intend that liberty shall degenerate into license.

"We deny internationalism because it is a luxury which only the upper classes can afford. The working people are hopelessly bound to their native shore.

"You can rest assured that in this Italy the workman—and all work, both of the brain and of the hands—will take, as its right, the first place.

"Still, as ever, the Roman Empire is a creator of the spirit, as it was the spirit which first inspired the Roman legions to fight.

"May God help me to carry my arduous task to a victorious end."

The man who talks as Mussolini talks, and who by actual deeds and powerful government lives up to his talking, is a man of power and one with whom the whole world must reckon seriously.

STATISTICS GOOD TO A CERTAIN POINT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A WISCONSIN professor is out with the prediction that pretty soon this old world will be over-populated.

There will be standing room only and not near enough food to go around.

This he figures out by statistics of the rate of progress in human fecundity.

This alarm is not new. Some years ago a man by the name of Malthus announced some such law and declared that unless something was done pretty soon there would be too many people on earth.

Henry George and others neatly punctured the Malthusian theory. Nothing like what Malthus predicted took place, for facts have a way of upsetting theories.

The trouble is that statistics are valuable only up to a certain point. At that point the law of diminishing returns begins to operate.

The Medici, the Fuggers and others were very rich men in their day. All you have to do is to take a pencil and paper and figure out how their fortunes should have increased. By this time they should have owned the whole planet and several adjoining stars. The only trouble was they didn't. Something happened.

Riches can only accumulate up to a certain point. Then they begin to dissolve in one way or another.

In the same way, if the laws of health permit a man to live seventy years, why shouldn't he live one hundred and seventy?

The only trouble is he doesn't. Somewhere the law of diminishing returns begins to operate.

It is like the man who taught his horse to eat shavings by putting green goggles on him. It worked all right. The only trouble was that about the time he learned to eat shavings he had to die and spoil the experiment.

Somewhere and somehow Mr. Professor's statistics are going to bump into the law of diminishing returns.

Whatever we are, nature has secret ways of taking care of herself.

Will some juggler of statistics or some learned professor please tell us how it happens that about so many men and so many women are born each year, how the ratio of the sexes keeps about the same, and tell us why the enormous destruction of war does not seem to alter the ratio?

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

ARE you discouraged today?

Do you feel that life is petty and futile and that you don't count in the scheme of things?

Be still and think.

Think back over the long years, over all the lives that have labored to produce you.

Think forward to all the years and the lives that are to come—the years and the lives upon which every least act of your life will leave its certain impress.

You are really the "heir of the ages."

All that men have done is built into your spirit. All that men have made has contributed to your life.

You could not walk upright today, without dragging your hands or slobbering over your jaw, if men had not come down from trees and crept out of caves and suffered terribly to learn the trick of uprightness.

You could not face danger if men had not had the hearts torn out of their bodies to learn courage.

You could not pat your dog on the head or play with your baby or caress your old mother or be true to your wife if men had not learned, with tremendous effort and pain, to be kind and tender and loyal and honest.

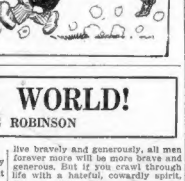
You could not read or add or cast your vote or walk on roads or breathe a free air if countless men had not struggled and sacrificed, labored and fought and died to give you knowledge and liberty and civilization.

Millions and millions of men wore out their bodies in difficult experiments to give you your body. Millions and millions of men sweated and prayed that a song might be planted in your heart and a dream in your brain.

You, as you stand today, are the fruit of man's achievement. And what others have done or failed to do for you, you are doing or failing to do for those who are to come.

Every thought, every word, every act or neglect of your life will leave its impress on the future. If you live bravely and generously, all men forever more will be more brave and generous. But if you crawl through life with a hateful, cowardly spirit, life hereafter will be more hateful and cowardly for other men.

NEITHER YOUR BODY NOR YOUR LIFE WILL EVER PASS FROM THIS WORLD. IN A VERY REAL WAY THEY WILL BOTH BE IMMORTAL. OTHER BODIES WILL BE BUILT FROM



YOUR BODY. OTHER CHARACTERS WILL BE BUILT FROM YOUR CHARACTER.

This very mood of discouragement, which now binds you, will leave its mark on life. Already you have discouraged someone else. Already you have failed to do some strong, heartening act which you should have done—which needed to be done.

Walt Whitman once wrote a grand line which will be like a staff to you if you will make it your own. Here it is—

"I AM AN ACME OF THINGS ACCOMPLISHED, AND I AM ENCLOSER OF THINGS TO BE."

Say that over and over to yourself. Say it proudly, with increasing fire. THEN LIVE IT.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

To pity distress is but human; to relieve it is godlike.
—Horace Mann.

The world is too much with us; late and soon.
Getting and spending we lay waste our powers;
Little we see in Nature that is ours.
—Wadsworth.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By Leola Allard

ANNOUNCEMENT is made that one out of every six automobiles is driven by a woman.

But that estimate is made on front seat driving.

The Bishop of Ely and the Viscount Lascelles of London are committing poetry against the short skirt. How can anything that incites a bishop or a viscount to make jokes be wrong? The bishop says: "So many women cannot afford to be so candid about their ankles."

Bishops should look up, and viscounts should look out. Then the length of skirts will not trouble them.

Trustees for the estate of Peter Cooper Hewitt of New York are trying to teach his widow to speak Scotch. It is a very difficult language for an extravagant widow with $11,000,000. Those who speak it fluently are born Scotch!

A woman who attended New York's strange nine-act play, which lasts from 8 till 11 p. m., reports that between acts toward midnight men were beginning to talk about needing shaves and women about going out to get their faces lifted.
